Kennedy To Drop Assistant's Post

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy expects to wipe out the powerful post of assistant to the president and to slash the White House staff sharply.

Kennedy's chief liaison man with the Eisenhower administration, Clark M. Clifford, outlined the prospects to newsmen after all-day sessions with Kennedy.

Clifford said there has been no discussion of a heavy cut or big overturn down the line through the various government departments and agencies.

Clifford said Theodore Sorensen, 32, will come closest to performing the duties now handled by the assistant to the president.

Clifford said, however, he would rather not comment on whether Sorensen will become the ranking member of the White House staff.

The title Kennedy has listed for Sorensen is that of special counsel. He could very well wind up with the unofficial designation as assistant president, corresponding to the role of Harry L. Hopkins in the Roosevelt administration.

Through the years, Sorensen probably has been closer to Kennedy than any other person, in launching and helping direct the campaign that will put Kennedy in the White House Jan. 20.

Wilton B. Persons now is the assistant to President Eisenhower. Before him it was Sherman Adams, who resigned under Congressional attacks that he accepted favors in returns for favors.

In the Truman administration John R. Steelman held the position.

The White House staff now has 51 persons in top roles—not counting the clerks and secretaries. In the Truman administration, Clifford said the total was about 15. He wouldn't speculate on how many such positions Kennedy will have—positions such as press and appointment secretaries, and administrative assistants.

U.S. Tells Reich To Help Pay Costs

BONN, Germany (AP) — The United States told West Germany Monday it needs immediate relief to dam the outflow of its dollar and gold reserves.

A 24-man delegation led by Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson and Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon explained U. S. needs to a German team headed by economics minister Ludwig Erhard, who is credited with enriching this nation through wise investment of nearly $5 billion in U. S. gifts. The atmosphere was reported friendly but subdued.

Details of the talks were not given out. However, informants said Erhard and his team sought to make U. S. appeals for greater West German contributions to foreign aid the center of attention.

The U. S. negotiators were reported wanting to concentrate on proposals to get the Germans to share in the $700-million annual costs of maintaining U. S. forces in Germany.

Bonn has stated its unwillingness to contribute to these costs, contending it would be reminiscent of payments Germany made for the support of U. S. occupation forces from the end of World War II until 1957. It would prefer that any added contributions go to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Although Bonn has expressed a willingness to help Washington out of its balance of payments troubles, it is said to be balking at a reported request for an immediate outlay of nearly $1.5 billion for foreign aid and NATO defense needs.

Bonn wants to pour between $852 million and $909 million into underdeveloped nations over four years.

The United States has indicated a belief the West Germans are trying to operate an export-subsidiary rather than an aid program in planning to get back from underdeveloped nations between 20 and 25 per cent of disbursed funds through the sale of German goods in 1961.

However, the Germans say a large percentage of their planned outlays next year are expected to be spent by underdeveloped nations in the United States.

West Germany has a balance of payments running annually at about $2 billion. Its gold and foreign currency reserves total more than $7 billion—nearly half the amount of gold the United States now has left.

Claims American Spied

Russia Ousts Attache

MOSCOW (AP)—Maj. Irving T. McDonald, assistant U.S. Air attache, Monday was ordered to leave the Soviet Union. Accused of illegal intelligence activities, he is the fourth U.S. Embassy official to be expelled in 13 months on some form of espionage charge.

Minister Counsellor Edward L. Freers was called to the Soviet Foreign Office in the afternoon and told that McDonald's presence in the Soviet Union was no longer desirable and he must leave as soon as possible.

McDonald, 34, from Provincetown, Mass., is on a trip in the Ural Mountains and is expected back Wednesday. Fluent in Russian, he arrived here April 21, 1959, with his wife and two children.

Legion of Merit

In 1956 he was awarded the Legion of Merit for work with the National Security Agency, a top-secret communications outfit specializing in U.S. and foreign codes.

Freers was told by the chief of the Foreign Office's American section that "competent authorities established that McDonald was continuing intelligence activities incompatible with the status of an accredited diplomatic worker."

The Soviet official charged that McDonald posed as a tourist near the city of Kharkov Oct. 18 in an area around military installations. He was given a warning then, the official said.

The Soviet news agency Tass charged that McDonald "was caught red-handed taking photographs of military objectives during a trip to the town of Kurgan (in southwest Siberia). Notebooks with intelligence information about defense objectives on the Moscow-Kurgan route were taken from him," Tass said.

The Russians previously had connected McDonald with the case of Col. Edwin M. Kirton of Palo Alto, Calif., U.S. Air attache expelled Aug. 10. The Russians charged Kirton organized an intelligence network in the Soviet Union and photographed military and industrial objectives on numerous trips.

McDonald was given a warning at the time of Kirton's expulsion, and Soviet authorities said steps would be taken against him "if he does not cease impermissible activities." The embassy denied the charges against both men.

In Washington, State Department officials were not surprised. They said that after McDonald received his warning in August his expulsion was regarded as a virtual certainty.

Army Action Defended By Kasavubu

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — President Joseph Kasavubu Monday night defended the action of the Congolese army in using force to compel the U.N. Command in the Congo to expel a Ghanaian diplomat.

He made his views known as the U. N. General Assembly plunged into a night debate on whether to accept the recommendation of a credentials committee that a delegation headed by Kasavubu be given the long vacant Congo seat in the Assembly.

Africa Divided

The debate was marked by an exchange of angry charges among African delegates divided on the seating issue. The Assembly was expected to approve the committee's recommendation Tuesday.

Kasavubu and his foreign minister, Justin Bomboko, carried on a long conversation by radio teletype with Col. Joseph Mobutu, the Congolese army commander. Mobutu's troops went into action against the U. N. forces in order to compel the expulsion of Nathaniel Welbeck, the Ghanaian charge d'affaires.

Afterward Bomboko issued a statement from Kasavubu saying the president a month ago had declared Welbeck no longer acceptable in Leopoldville, and accusing Ghana's President Kwame Nkrumah of using insulting language in refusing to accept Kasavubu's ruling.

Sends Regrets

Kasavubu disclosed he had sent cables to the U. N. Secretary-General and President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia expressing regret over the shootings in front of Welbeck's embassy residence, but blaming Ghana's "lack of understanding" for making the show of force necessary.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union Monday night accused the U.N. Command of collaborating with the forces of Col. Joseph Mobutu and demanded an immediate report from Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold on the latest turn of events in the Congo.

Attack Ghana Embassy In Move To Take Aide

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP)—The Congo army of Col. Joseph Mobutu attacked the U.N.-defended Ghana Embassy residence with machine guns and armored cars Monday night in an effort to seize a top diplomat accused of conspiracy against the Congo regime.

There were uncounted casualties, including Mobutu's chief aide, who was reported killed by the U.N. side.

In the midst of a three-hour Monday night battle the U.N. command yielded and agreed to hand over the diplomat, Nathaniel Welbeck, for expulsion from the Congo. But first efforts to remove him, the U.N. command said, were met with Congolese gunfire and the shooting was resumed early Tuesday.

The whole battle area was blacked out and the U.N. said another effort would be made to get the diplomat out in daylight later Tuesday.

The U.N. command accused the Congolese army of violating an earlier truce agreement and said the Congo soldiers continued firing past midnight at the U.N. defending troops.

Tunisian Defenders

The U.N. officials said the Congolese soldiers were out of control and refused to obey a cease-fire arranged with Mobutu, the Congo's strong man.

Gunfire rattled in a wide area around Welbeck's besieged residence. It was defended by 150 Tunisian infantrymen and a squad of Ghana riot police.

Indian Brig. Gen. Indarjit Rikhye, acting chief of the U.N. mission, was turned back once by a burst of Congolese gunfire when he tried to pass through the ring of Congolese soldiers to get Welbeck out.

The Ghana Embassy is on the bank of the Congo River in an elite residential area.

Among the casualties was Mobutu's second in command, Col. J. Kokolo, who was killed, the U. N. Command said, by a Tunisian machine gunner in the U.N. force defending the Ghana residence.

A high U. N. official called the shooting a tragic mistake.

The U. N. Command said Maj. Gen. Henry T. Alexander, British chief of staff of the Ghana army, arrived in Leopoldville two hours before the shooting began, with a Russian Ilyushin plane to take Welbeck out of the Congo. Welbeck kept insisting he had no intention of leaving, Congolese sources said.

Might Spread

Weary U. N. officials openly feared the shooting might spread to other parts of the Congo capital and bring a major conflict between the Congolese troops and U. N. peace-keeping forces.

The battle at the Ghana residence was the first between the blue-helmeted U. N. troops and the Congolese army.

In any case, the battle widened the rift between the U. N. command and Mobutu.

Newsmen, including several Americans, were driven out of the battle area by Congolese soldiers firing machineguns alongside their cars.

The exact numbers of casualties in the three-hour battle could not be determined immediately. Estimates varied from 7 killed and 7 wounded to 3 killed and 4 wounded. U.N. officials said 2 Congolese were killed.

The U.N. Command finally announced it is bowing to Mobutu's demand for expulsion of Ghana Charge d'Affaires Nathaniel Welbeck. He is accused by Mobutu of plotting to reinstate deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Welbeck had defied the expulsion order, and the U.N. Command —trying to remain neutral in a bilateral scrap between Ghana and Mobutu's Congo regime—had previously refused to help Mobutu oust Welbeck.

Two Bodies Recovered; Man Charged

READING, Pa. (AP)—A middle-aged painter was charged Monday with murdering a man whose body, together with that of the woman who employed him, was taken from a crude and unmarked grave.

The accused, 49-year-old Edwin Gockley, was arraigned before Alderman Charles Lease, functioning as a magistrate, and sent to Berks County prison pending further hearing.

Gockley was charged with killing Clement J. Smith, 41, an odd jobs man who worked for Mrs. Mabel Klein, 64, a wealthy divorcee.

On Saturday Gockley led police to the place on the grounds of the tennis club he operated—five miles from the city—where Smith and Mrs. Klein had been buried under a few feet of soil.

Denies Killing Woman

Gockley told police he did not kill Mrs. Klein. He said she died of a natural cause while in Smith's company; that Smith took her body to the tennis club; and that he killed Smith with a shotgun in a quarrel over what to do with the corpse.

Gockley said the gun went off by accident as the two men grappled for it. Then, by the police account, Gockley said he shot Smith again to end his suffering.

The murder charge was formally lodged against Gockley by Elwood M. Krause, a state police detective.

District Attorney Frederick O. Brunaker indicated the state will demand the death penalty. He added that whether a second murder charge would be placed against Gockley depends on the findings of an autopsy performed on Mrs. Klein.

Forgery Counts

At his arraignment Gockley asked, "Is murder all I'm being charged with."

"Isn't murder enough?" said the astonished alderman.

Gockley's question was prompted by no mention at the arraignment of 10 counts of forgery against him, the outgrowth of checks cashed against Mrs. Klein's account after her death.

EXPELLED—Maj. Irving T. McDonald, assistant U.S. Air Attache, was ordered yesterday by the Soviets to leave the Soviet Union. He has been charged by the Russians with conduct unbecoming a military attache.

Union Chiefs Want Man In Cabinet Post

WASHINGTON (AP)— Labor union leaders are pressing President-elect John F. Kennedy to put a union man in the Cabinet.

They feel the time has come for unions again to have representation at the top government level. This, they suggest, could be accomplished by putting one of their number in as secretary of labor or in some other Cabinet post.

What the unions chiefs really want—and feel they deserve on the basis of organized labor support for the Democrats—is a major voice in the new administration.

Kennedy is to confer here Wednesday with George Meany, AFL-CIO president, and possibly other federation leaders.

The conference was announced as a discussion of unemployment problems. But more than likely it will be a session to work out an understanding of the whole relationship between Kennedy and organized labor during his administration.

Bobby Darin, Sandra Dee To Be Married

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Teenage idol Bobby Darin, 24, and Sandra Dee, 18, who fell in love while making a picture together in Italy, Monday announced their engagement, friends here said.

The two just finished "Come September" with Rock Hudson and Gina Lollobrigida. Darin, who zoomed to fame with his hit recording of "Mack the Knife," flew from Rome to New York a few days ago. Miss Dee arrived there Sunday and Darin met her at the plane.

He gave her a big emerald engagement ring Monday and the blonde actress phoned friends in Hollywood to say that they were engaged.

High Court To Rule On Controversy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court, in what could be a historic step, Monday entered the fight by metropolitan areas to cut down the disproportionate voting power of rural voters.

Specifically, the court agreed to look into the refusal of the Tennessee Legislature to reapportion seats in the state legislature since 1901.

If the court later decides, after hearing arguments on both sides, to rule on the controversy it could have nationwide repercussions. Similar situations of disparity in relative voting power between rural and metropolitan areas exist in many states.

Requirement

The Tennessee constitution requires reapportionment of the General Assembly every 10 years by counties or districts according to the number of qualified voters.

The litigation was brought by a group of voters living in metropolitan areas in Tennessee, including Nashville, Chattanooga and Knoxville.

Through the years, the Supreme Court has handed down numerous decisions refusing to interfere with districts laid out by the states.

The National Institute of Municipal Law Officers filed a brief supporting efforts to compel a reapportionment of legislative districts in Tennessee.

The institute said that in the last two decades the United States has become predominantly urban, with more than two-thirds of the population living in cities and suburbs.

Radio Stations Under Conelrad

NEW YORK (AP)—Virtually all the nation's broadcasting stations were integrated directly into the Conelrad alert system Monday with the signing of agreements between the two major news services, the Air Force and the Federal Communications Commission.

The agreements permit instant use by the U. S. Air Defense Command of Associated Press and United Press International wires serving practically all radio and TV stations for transmission of a Conelrad alert.

"Let's hope we never have to use it," said Federal Communications Commissioner Robert E. Lee as he signed the agreement with the Associated Press in the AP building Monday afternoon.

Norstad Proposes NATO Become Nuclear Power

PARIS (AP)—U.S. Gen. Lauris Norstad proposed in effect Monday that the Atlantic alliance become a nuclear power, with member nations sharing equal control of the weapons.

The 15-member North Atlantic Treaty Organization already has nuclear missile warheads at its disposal, but they are under tight control of the United States and in some cases Britain.

Norstad is supreme commander of NATO forces in Europe. Speaking to the annual NATO parliamentarians' conference, he said "there should be a basic pool of atomic weapons with an equal voice in control of these weapons."

U.S. Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson was in the audience.

Johnson had assured the some 200 parliamentarians that the recent U.S. election was in no way "a repudiation of President Eisenhower's support for the instruments of mutual strength in Western Europe."

Norstad said greater control of atomic weapons by NATO "could be a great and dramatic new step" which might meet the desires of other nations to have their national nuclear stocks.

In an apparent reference to the U.S. Polaris missile, he said he hoped that during the period of 1963 to 1965 NATO would have "extremely mobile (missile) units, some of which may operate at sea and some which may operate by land." There have been reports that the United States is preparing to offer the submarine-based Polaris to NATO.

10 States Finish Count Of Votes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The presidential election is two weeks in the past, yet only 10 of the 50 states so far have completed their official count of the nearly 68 million votes cast.

Twelve more states may complete the job this week. Fifteen state canvassing boards will meet next week.

The remaining states may not wind things up officially until shortly before the electoral college meets on Dec. 19 to ratify the voters' decision.

Decision

On the basis of unofficial returns tallied since Nov. 8, that decision went to Democrat John F. Kennedy.

But it was a hairbreadth decision and some Republicans who fought to elect Richard M. Nixon have started recounts in a couple of states; may do so in others.

The Democrats also may ask a recount in Hawaii, which Nixon won by 141 votes out of 184,869.

With more than 1,200 precincts still unreported and an undetermined number of absentee ballots yet to be tabulated, the national count stood this way on the basis of official and unofficial state tabulations:

Kennedy 33,919,296.

Nixon 33,744,669.

The difference — 174,627 in Kennedy's favor.

Despite the closeness of the popular vote, Kennedy was the indicted winner in states with a total of 300 electoral votes—31 more than the rock bottom number needed to elect a president. Nixon has 223 electoral votes.

Partial recounts are being sought by Republicans in Illinois and New Jersey, which have a total of 43 electoral votes—27 for Illinois and 16 for New Jersey. If the recounts should shift both states from Kennedy to Nixon neither would have a majority of electoral votes. That would put 14 unpledged electors in Mississippi and Alabama in position to decide the election. If they failed to put either candidate over the top it would be up to the House of Representatives to settle things.

Four Denied Hearing By Tribunal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four persons convicted of defrauding the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission of $19.5 million were denied a hearing by the U.S. Supreme Court Monday.

Appeals had been taken by Thomas J. Evans, Coaldale, Pa., former commission chairman; James F. Torrance, one-time commission member; Charles W. Strickler, president of Manu-Mine Research and Development Corp., of Reading, and Clayton A. Landsidle, former vice president of Manu-Mine.

The four claimed they were deprived of a fair trial and denied equal protection and due process of laws guaranteed by the constitution. The appeal said "intense publicity and bias" was generated by former Gov. George M. Leader.

AF Launches Space Capsule

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force launched a 500-pound space capsule to an altitude of 32 miles Monday and brought it safely back with the aid of a drag balloon and a parachute.

The launching, from Santa Rosa Island, Fla., was the second successful test of a new high altitude device for the recovery of missile nose cones or of escape capsules and space vehicles returning from orbit.

The new system, dubbed ballute, was developed by Goodyear Aircraft Corp. for the Air Research and Development Command.

Pre-Holiday Tragedies

Four Accidents...28 Lives

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A rash of family-erasing car accidents has marred the nation's safety record in advance of the four-day Thanksgiving Day weekend starting Thursday.

Four separate accidents in the last 10 days killed 28 persons and virtually wiped out three families. The tragedies prompted the National Safety Council to issue a caution warning to all motorists.

By grisly coincidence, each of the four accidents killed seven persons each.

The first fatal stroke of seven in the current series was sounded Nov. 11 when Richard Childester, 29; his wife, Evelyn, 25, and five other members of their family were returning home after visiting their youngest son, Tommy, 1, ill with virus in a hospital at Aurora, Ill. Police were told a trailer-truck collided with another car, jack-knifed and tumbled onto their car, crushing them to death. Tommy was the only survivor.

Then, seven days later the Rev. John Eastman, 29, a Presbyterian minister in southern Minnesota, loaded his six children into the family car and started out from their Lewiston home to visit a friend in a nearby city while his wife attended a school class play. They were killed when the car struck a bridge abutment.

The entire family of Howard R. Lemons, 39, an Oregon lumber company executive, drowned, presumably Sunday, when their car slid past a guard rail near Eugene, Ore., during a rainstorm. Searchers found their car under water Monday in Dexter Lake. Other victims were Mrs. Lemons, 35, and their five children.

Monday, seven persons died when a train struck a car at a crossing in Toltec, Ariz. The dead were identified as Mrs. Annabelle Martin, her brother-in-law, and her young son and Mrs. Ralph Jewel and her two sons. The families lived on a ranch south of Toltec.

Child Health Committee

200 Aided Yearly By Community Chest Unit

Madalyn Maloney

LET'S suppose we are in a classroom. A second grade classroom, perhaps, and one of the children is crying. This is not too unusual, as any teacher of little folks will tell you. At that stage, when the world seems very large and the problems of getting along with others very great, tears are frequently shed. But Johnny Jones is not crying because of any personality problems. He has toothache.

This incident might seem to be one any teacher could solve instantly. One might expect her to write Johnny's mother a note, suggesting that he see a dentist, and send him home.

But Johnny's case is not ordinary. He has had toothache on several occasions, and nothing has been done about it. Now the teacher knows why. Johnny comes from an extremely low income family. Whatever money there is to be budgeted must go for food and clothing. Not only have his teeth been neglected. Johnny has always had the type of diet that simply does not provide proper nourishment for his growing body — a diet so inadequate it cannot possibly insure firm, healthy teeth.

Accordingly, Johnny's teacher will not send him home with a note to Mother. She will take him instead to the school nurse, who will probably call Mrs. Donald Gilpin, executive secretary of the Child Health Committee. There will be some investigating by Mrs. Gilpin to determine whether or not Johnny's family is really in need of assistance. If so, help will be offered, and Mrs. Gilpin will contact a dentist to make an appointment for the child.

Help Appreciated

Mrs. Gilpin finds that, when help is extended, it is usually much appreciated, although many families are too proud to solicit aid. Realizing that most parents honestly desire to provide for their own children, any payment they can make — even a dollar a week — is accepted, although the Child Health Committee meets the entire expense when necessary.

Johnny is just one of approximately 200 children who come to the attention of the Child Health Committee each year. Most of them need dental care, as he does, but there are others who require medical or optical examinations.

"Pertaining to eye examinations, we must give full credit to the Lions Club for its project of providing glasses for needy children," Mrs. Gilpin explains. "As a matter of fact, the Lions do such excellent work in the field, our committee spent only 37.00 on glasses last year as compared to 644.00 for teeth and 66.00 for medical care. The only optical cases that come to our attention are those requiring the services of an optician rather than an optometrist — problems that are, in some way, associated with medical or congenital conditions."

Doctors and dentists of this area work very closely with the Child Health Committee, Mrs. Gilpin says, and she is generous in her praise of all who cooperate in the services she requests. Members of the Monroe County Dental Society have set a very low rate for the Committee, and this is exceedingly important when one considers that dental care would otherwise represent a formidable drain on a limited budget.

State Cooperation

One big step forward in dental care is the present trend of schools to have completely outfitted dental rooms, operated in conjunction with a State health program. Stroud Union High School, for example, has such a room, handsomely equipped and donated to the school district by an alumni member Frank Kerr, in memory of his sister, Kathryn, for years a grade school teacher in Stroudsburg. Here periodic examinations are made and notices are issued to parents informing them of dental work required by their child.

Through the State program, indigent children of the first three grades may have their teeth repaired by the Child Health Committee's dental clinician with the Committee paying only for materials used.

Mrs. Gilpin is enthusiastic about this program, pointing out that, when teeth are given the necessary attention thus early in the child's school life, along with counseling as to proper nutrition and oral hygiene, there is an excellent chance of preventing far more costly dental work at a later date.

While it seems almost incredible school dentists are finding that many parents are lax in following-through on dental care, failing to recognize its importance. As Mrs. Gilpin says, "Not only does poor nutrition produce poor teeth, but poor teeth promote bodily ills." Yet so many youngsters are indifferent to oral hygiene, it is not at all unusual for teen-agers to require full, or at least partial, dentures. Just last year the Committee was called upon to provide dentures for four children. It is only through the kindness of the dental surgeon who handles such cases that they could be fitted into the budget. Dentures are, of course, expensive, and Mrs. Gilpin shudders to think what would happen if the need for them were to increase appreciably. "When you stop to consider such a possibility, you can readily see why I so strongly favor early care and an intensified oral health-education program for the children," she emphasizes.

Medical care provided by the Committee is limited to prescriptions, bus fares to out-of-town clinics, and the like. There are also many requests each year for removal of tonsils, but surgery is beyond the financial scope of CHC. Such cases Mrs. Gilpin refers to the local hospital where a number of tonsillectomies are performed charitably at regular intervals.

Formed In 1933

The Child Health Committee was formed here in October of 1933 as part of a program advanced by the State Medical Society to provide necessary medical care for those youngsters up to 16 years of age who were suffering from various illnesses of malnutrition which came in the wake of the Great Depression. Children of extreme low income groups were given a complete physical examination and care.

Dr. Paul Shiffer was named Monroe County Medical chairman, with Mrs. William Webb as lay chairman. The organization was then known as the Child Emergency Health Committee, the word "emergency" later being dropped. For a number of years, until her sudden and untimely death, Miss Helen Kulp served as executive secretary, maintaining an office and an automobile to carry out her duties.

Miss Kulp was succeeded in July of 1954 by Barbara Gregory Gilpin, and the budget was decreased by closing the office and no longer maintaining a car. Today Mrs. Gilpin receives calls at her home on North Eighth street, carrying on the Committee's functions from there. While it is possible for families in need of aid to appeal directly to her, most of the children under her surveillance are brought to her attention by school nurses.

Following Miss Kulp's death, and prior to the reorganization of the Committee, a surgery was conducted to determine whether or not continuance of her project was warranted. A thorough study showed the work was definitely needed, and the results had been exceedingly gratifying.

Budget Low

The operating budget is amazingly low — just a bit over 1500.00 a year, some of which is contributed by the Monroe County Commissioners, the Elks Lodge, and the Junior Women and Progressive Women's Clubs. Parents' payments amount to comparatively little, but are made willingly by those able to do so. The bulk of the budget comes from the Community Chest.

Just what, then, are we as citizens doing when we make our contribution the "Red Feather way?" We are giving the greatest gift possible to a child — the wonderful sense of security and well-being all posses who enjoy good health, so that they may truly share the blessings of their American heritage. We are giving little Johnny Jones freedom from toothache, and his older sister, perhaps, a radiant smile. We are making them both aware that health and beauty are synonymous, and that life is glorious in almost direct proportion to one's physical endowments. This is the achievement of your Child Health Committee. This is your Community Chest.

Selection Of Seals Appealing

THE following letter was addressed to the president and the board of the Monroe County Tuberculosis and Health Society:

"Your selection of seals for 1960 are most appealing to me. I've decided to keep the 300 and use them to help others to see. It's the little things that we can do which will help others to live longer.

"Research scientists are doing a wonderful work, seeking to find relief and curse for many ills suffered by all age groups. I thank God for this knowledge given women and men in the medical field. To them credit can be given that I'm alive at 69 years and hoping to greet 70, the allotted time given man. But by reason of God's grace to comfort them through trials and tribulations, man can live beyond the three score years and 10. However, 'age is a figment of the mind.' You're never old, though ambitious fires seem dead, let hope help you look ahead. In heaven, we're all children of God.

"Humbly yours,

MARSHALLS Creek Fire Company will test its fire siren Wednesday between 7 and 7:10 p.m.

The siren has been moved to a new location on the carnival grounds to give added height to the sound. It can be heard by firemen in all points in the area.

Firemen plan to run it through its complete cycle at least once with the possibility of running it several times during the test.

Following the testing program there will be a regular drill in the firehouse.

County Will Pay Tribute To VA Aide

MONROE County Commissioners voted to close the Courthouse Wednesday at noon to allow employes to attend the funeral of Frank Weller, Veterans Affairs officer, who died late Sunday night. The Courthouse will remained closed until Friday when it will open at the regular time.

The board also voted to close the Veterans Affairs office, on Sarah Street, until Monday and then open it with temporary office help until a new person is engaged as Veterans Affairs officer.

In other business, a check for $336 from the Philadelphia-Valley Forge Federation, Boy Scouts of America was turned over to the county.

"This token contribution is a fine example of the high caliber of people in the organization and shows their appreciation of the privilege of being located in Monroe County," commissioner John Lesoine, commented.

Annual Contribution

The check is an annual contribution from the federation in lieu of taxes — they are exempt from taxes as the Boy Scouts is a non-profit organization. The camp is located at Resica Falls on Route 402 about six miles north of Marshalls Creek. It is the only tax exempt organization in Monroe County that makes an annual contribution in lieu of taxes.

With the chest was a letter suggesting the money be distributed with $80 to the county institution, $185 to school and $71 towards township roads.

In other business of the board a letter was received from Buck Hill Falls Co. stating their approval of one dam site and rejection of another on their property. The dams are part of the United States Soil Conservation Service program for flood control.

The site rejected was PC-5 located on Buck Hill Creek between Wildcat Creek and the Golf club.

The site repected was PC-5 on Griscom Creek. The site was turned down by the company for reason of interfering with the golf course after the dam would be completed.

Officers of the company said they would give consideration to another plan if the site could be re-located.

Last Installment

Commissioners voted to grant the last installment of $1,000 allocated to the Monroe County Law Library and also approved county aid to two townships.

Chestnuthill Township was given $6,993, and Tobyhanna Township received $2,250.

The commissioners authorized the county farmer to obtain prices for a new manure spreader. They were informed that the present spreader was old and was near the stage that repairs to keep the machine in operation would warrent the purchasing of a new piece of equipment.

Action will be taken at the next meeting when the prices are submitted for study.

4 Teamsters Held For Court

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Four Teamsters Union members Monday were held for court on charges and countercharges of assault and battery they say resulted from a fist fight over a union election.

They are Larry Thomas, Frank Furbee, Leon Straus and Thomas Makaila.

Thomas and Makaila each swore out a private warrant against the other after the two fought Nov. 8 in a restaurant.

Thomas is recording secretary of Local 596, Garage and Service Station Employes. He is running for president on the same slate as Furbee, who is a candidate for secretary-treasurer.

The election, scheduled for Dec. 18, is to release the local from five years' trusteeship. It was ordered after a court suit by rank-and-filers headed by Furbee.

Thomas told Magistrate John F. Daly that Makaila grabbed him as he was leaving the restaurant, punched him in the face and tried to gouge out his eyes. Daly held Makaila in $300 bail for court.

Later Makaila told Magistrate Samuel Clark Jr., that Thomas came at him with what looked like a knife and that Furbee and Strauss punched him in the back while he grappled with Thomas. Makaila is a member of Teamsters Local 107.

Clark held the three in $300 bail for court.

STROUDSBURG Fire Department was called to the scene of a fire twice yesterday, both at the same location, by employing the "silent alarm," Chief Robert Philips reported last night.

The fire started on the bank of the McMichaels Creek, near the Fifth Street Bridge and was caused by rubbish and leaves which accumulated during the fall.

The firemen reported at approximately 3:20 p.m. and again at 10 p.m. The last time they "wetted down" the entire area with water for approximately 30 minutes, killing the fire.

Chief Philips said there was no damage to property.

Ex-Escapee Goes Berserk In Cell

DONALD Kishpaugh, a 16-year-old boy who escaped from the Monroe County Jail last Tuesday and was captured Thursday went berserk in his cell yesterday, attempting suicide by inflicting superficial razor blade wounds on both wrists.

Monroe County Sheriff Jacob F. Altemose reported that after Kishpaugh was examined by a doctor he was ordered into a straight jacket, handcuffed and placed in the restraining cell.

In less than an hour after being committed to the restraining cell the husky six-foot, one-inch youth snapped free from his straight jacket.

Rips Loose Link

The youth using his 198 pounds to full advantage, ripped loose the link between the handcuffs by continuously beating the link on the radiator, the only furnishing in the cell.

After breaking the link on the handcuffs he smashed a heavy glass window and tore the radiator from the floor and used it as a hammer to knock a hole in the wall approximately one-foot square.

Sheriff Altemose approached the cell and was threatened by Kishpaugh with a brick he had knocked from the wall. Altemose warned the boy and said he was coming in the cell, that he (Kishpaugh) should put the brick down. The Stroudsburg youth obeyed the county official's command.

Kishpaugh was examined yesterday by a physician in the jail and medications were prescribed to keep him calm.

Transfer Order

Monroe County District Attorney James R. Marsh said that an order to commit Kishpaugh to an institution for disturbed young offenders would be presented to President Judge Fred W. Davis for his signature.

The youth will remain in the jail until the order is signed and then will be taken to an institution in Dallas.

Rep. Walter Credited In Texas Swing

REP. FRANCIS E. Walter (D-Easton) has received many praises from the Texas Democratic Committee for his "playing a vital role in swinging the state to President-elect John F. Kennedy."

Congressional leaders in Washington said Walter's talks were impressive for several reasons. First, he is a northern Democrat coming into the state "with no ax to grind or chip on his shoulder.

Second, he is looked upon by the people of Texas as a "great leader in congress" because of his work as chairman of the House Committee of Un - American Activities.

Third, the oilmen look at him as a friend. He is the author of the tideland oil bill that was passed by Congress, and fourth, he was accepted by big business in the Lone Star State because of his position as vice president of the Broad Street Trust Co., in Philadelphia.

Walter was re-elected to his 15th consecutive term to the House of Representatives.

The appearances in Texas were made at the request of House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Texas).

Educational Problem

Education specialists at California's Occidental College recently completed a study of the nation's public schools, and came up with this appalling prediction:

That if the past is a barometer of the future only 55 percent of the pupils now in the fifth grade will be graduated from high school in 1967. The remaining 45 percent will join the ranks of the "drop-outs."

In this same area, Dr. Edward C. McDonagh, head of Southern California University's sociology department, reports a series of studies tending to show that four out of every 10 children of upper middle class homes are incapable of attaining professional careers.

This means there are families which can afford to give their sons and daughters a higher education than the youngsters can absorb. Naturally enough, this is a problem of considerable concern to affluent parents, for it often means fathers can't hand down to sons businesses requiring professional knowledge. The kids just don't have what it takes.

But how shall America use the manpower of this 40 percent? What kind of status-satisfying work can they be trained to do?

Finding the answer to these questions may well be one of the gigantic problems confronting American educators in the 1960s.

'I Think It's Time To Retire Him . . . For Keeps!'

One Billion Americans In 2050?

A current decrease in the nation's baby crop is being assessed in some quarters as bad news for the economy. Business, it is said, has geared its pace to the rising demands created by even more bodies to be clothed, nourished and housed.

The U.S. Public Health Service estimates that the number of American babies born alive in 1960 will be 4,203,000, as compared with 4,282,000 last year. But it does not expect the current drop in births to continue for long because there is no evidence of a trend toward smaller families. In short, another spurt of births is in prospect by the mid-1960's as the "boom babies" of the early postwar years start forming families of their own.

Some population experts frankly welcome even a short respite from the propelled birth rate. They contend the nation needs to catch up with the unfulfilled public needs of its already burgeoning population.

A recent nation-wide survey showed that American wives expected, on the average, a total of between 2.7 and 3.3 children for their families, with 3.0 the most probable number. Only 7 percent of the wives expected six or more children, an indication that the proportion of truly large families will not increase.

What does the "fraction of a child" so dear to the demographer's heart mean in terms of national growth? The Population Reference Bureau estimates that if married women have an average of three children the population of the United States will rise from 180 million in 1960 to about 600 million by the year 2050.

But if the average is 3.3 children, population will reach the billion mark by that time! And it should be remembered that even with the current decrease in the birth rate the nation's population is increasing at the rate of 25 million persons every eight and one-half years.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Campaign For Hiss

It would seem that at this moment there is a renewed campaign in favor of Alger Hiss. The effort is to show that Hiss has suffered martyrdom and is now living in poverty. The inherent appeal in such an article as appears on this subject in "Esquire" magazine, is for compassion and we are a compassionate people.

"Esquire," by caption and the photographic setting as well as the nature of two articles in juxtaposition, shows how Roy Cohn, who had been one of Hiss' adversaries, has prospered. The titles are interesting: "The Problems of Alger Hiss" as contrasted with "The Pleasure of Roy Cohn."

Hiss is the man of purpose; Cohn the man of pleasure. Why this contrast is made, it is difficult to understand, as Cohn did not benefit from Hiss' miseries nor did Hiss suffer from Cohn's affluence.

Of Hiss it is said:

"At present, Alger Hiss is selling stationery.

"He lives at a water-front address in New York City in a third-floor walk-up, a sad building with a tattered green awning over a vacant store front piled high with empty cardboard cartons, and next door, 'Harry Feldman, Slop Chest, Supplies—Everything for the Sailor.' It looks like the kind of hide-out . . . that Whittaker Chambers would have picked in his darker days. Last Spring the apartment was robbed . . . the total loot was a $25 ring and a $5 pair of cuff links.

"Since last year, he has been separated from his wife, Priscilla."

Of Roy Cohn it says:

"Roy Cohn is thirty-three now . . . Cohn today is a partner in the New York law firm of Saxe, Bacon, and O'Shea, from which he earns $250,000 a year. He is a major stockholder of The Lionel Corporation, maker of toy trains, fuses, and electronic equipment; a subsidiary manufactures sporting goods and another is a leading producer of missile components. He is a one-third owner of Feature Sports, Inc., which promoted, among other fights this past year, both of the Johansson-Patterson heavyweight championship bouts.

"He is a successful investor in the stock market, owns two middlesized restaurants of no particular distinction in Manhattan, and holds oil leases in Texas, New Mexico, and Kentucky . . ." etc., etc.

What does this contrast mean? It means that Alger Hiss has taken his downfall with bitterness and resentment; it means that Roy Cohn, who was smeared because of his association with Senator Joe McCarthy and who accumulated a host of enemies, went to work to achieve a personal success.

One man who felt he was unjustly treated, lives in the past, resents the present and has no future; the other man has gone ahead.

In these articles, Hiss is painted as a Werther and Cohn as a Till Eulenspiegel. It is an interesting contrast but wholly untrue as to Cohn and I presume, not knowing Hiss, that he will one day be released from his miseries by finding a place for himself in which his talents can still be used in his country's interest.

These tales of two men who took divergent paths may be interesting and therefore they justify some magazine notice. But it is not a true contrast because Roy Cohn's success in business has nothing to do with Alger Hiss' failure as a public servant.

Roy Cohn's capabilities are in the fields of law and finance. His father was a distinguished jurist in New York; his grandfather was a banker. He comes by his abilities naturally.

Alger Hiss also is a lawyer and as such has had a brilliant start, but he got caught in the Marxism of the 1930's and went to prison therefor. Cohn avoided such entanglements which apparently shocks "Esquire" which quotes Richard Rovere as follows:

"In all probability, Cohn's anti-Communism was somewhat less of a caprice and an improvistation than McCarthy's, for Cohn was Jewish and from New York, and at about the time he came to man's estate and participated in the Rosenberg prosecution, it seemed terribly important to many Jews not only to disassociate themselves from Jewish Communists, but to demonstrate a zealous and fiery anti-Communism . . ."

Jewish participation in anti-Communist efforts antedates the Rosenberg case. I refer to the work of Isaac Don Levine, Eugene Lyons, Ben Gitlow, Benjamin Stolberg, David Dubinsky, myself and many others. These articles in "Esquire" prove nothing except that some folks like Hiss and some dislike Cohn.

Veterans Guide

Q—I am eighteen years old, the daughter of a veteran who served in the armed forces in peacetime and who died of injuries sustained in maneuvers of an extra-hazardous nature. Doesn't a new law entitle me to training under the War Orphans Education program?

A—Yes. A law passed recently broadened the scope of the War Orphans Education program to include children of deceased veterans of peacetime service. The death of the peacetime veteran parent must have been caused by the actual performance of military or extra-hazardous duty. Eligible children must generally be between 18 and 23 years of age.

Q—I live in an area that has been declared a direct loan area for GI loans. Wasn't this direct loan program of VA recently extended for both World War II and Korea veterans?

A—Yes. VA's direct loan program, which formerly had a deadline of July 25, 1960, was extended by law to July 25, 1962.

Q—I hold a GI insurance policy for $10,000 and want to change the beneficiaries I put down a long time ago. Do I have to tell them I am making the change?

A—No. Your designation of beneficiaries is entirely your own affair and beneficiaries previously named need not be notified if you wish to make a change.

The Pennsylvania Story

Election Impact

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — The election of two weeks ago that saw Democrats carry the Keystone State in a presidential runoff for only the fifth time within the past 100 years can hardly be considered either any sort of "vote of confidence for, or rejection of, the Democratic Lawrence Administration in Pennsylvania.

There are those of course — particularly within Democratic ranks here on Capitol Hill—who would like to think in his direction, and who prefer to assume there is a strong inter-relationship.

Several points are worth noting.

In the first place the Kennedy campaign as conducted in Pennsylvania was based almost exclusively on broad national and international issues — which did not encompass the Lawrence Administration.

Closest the Kennedy campaign came to "localization of campaign issues in this state developed as the Democratic presidential candidate hammered home in the hard-pressed areas the need for area redevelopment legislation, twice passed by a Democratic Congress and vetoed by the Republican Eisenhower Administration.

Even this had no relationship with the Lawrence Administration — other than the fact that Mr. Lawrence and his aides vigorously supported the legislation.

In no sense can it be said that the "prestige" of the Lawrence Administration was "laid on the line" insofar as the presidential campaign was concerned.

In fact even though the campaign could somehow be construed in the vein of a vote of confidence for the Lawrence Administration, negative factors seemingly would be overriding.

For example, in the legislative field within the Keystone State where local contests were tied in with Pennsylvania affairs more than anything else, the administration did not fare to well.

In the State House of Representatives where all 210 seats were up for refilling two weeks ago, administration Democrats increased their control of that chamber by only two votes, climbing from 108 which they held in the 1959 and 1960 sessions, to 110 seats for the upcoming 1961 session.

Numerically this may seem like a lot of seats — but 106 votes were required to pass legislation, and a margin of four votes in legislative circles is not viewed as anything approaching an "insurance vote."

In the 50-seat Senate where Democrats in 1959 and 1960 held a low-end-of-the-pole tab of 28 to 22, the election two weeks ago increased Democratic seatage from 22 to 25 — not enough to give the administration a lock-and-stock upper hand in a count now standing for 1961 at 25 and 25.

Again, significantly, 26 votes are needed to pass legislation in the upper chamber — and administration Democrats at this point do not have it.

Or looking at the picture in another light — anti-administration Republicans in the election two weeks ago walked off with GOP margins in 52 of the State's 67 counties, again certainly not indicative of any mandate or vote of confidence for the Lawrence Administration.

Most certainly Pennsylvania Democrats carried Pennsylvania in the presidential runoff — by better than 130,000 — but eliminate the 326,000 majority turned in by one county, Philadelphia (or for that matter less than half of the Philadelphia majority) and it isn't difficult to see that Democrats would not have carried Pennsylvania.

Unquestionably it is improper to refer to the past election as any sort of a vote of confidence in the Lawrence Administration — as it is equally improper to refer to the outcome as any vote of "non-confidence." Neither was it in the cards Nov. 8.

Off The Record

By Robert Clark, City Editor

Stroudsburg High will have one faithful supporter when they meet arch-rival East Stroudsburg Thursday morning at the Cavaliers lair.

He is Dr. John P. Lim, school director and team physician of the Mountaineers.

Dr. Lim, naturally knows the physical aspects of the squad which has had more than its share of injuries this year and has been close to the personnel, both in his capacity as a doctor and a friend.

The other day Dr. Lim said, "with no support under the most adverse, and at times, frightening conditions beyond their control the Stroud Union football team has continued to play their hearts out.

"I know the team has the courage, desire, determination and will to win.

"I wholeheartedly back them to win on Thanksgiving Day.

Win, lose or draw I am proud of them and am proud to be associated with them."

If any one person close to the scene has a right to his expert advice then Dr. Lim is that one individual.

While we are on the subject of football and this is the week when all thoughts turn to the grid sport, two former area coaches will match wits Thanksgiving Day at Port Jervis. Facing each other on the opposite sides of the field will be John Whitehead and Joe Vigilione.

John, is the former Stroud Union mentor, who guided Middletown High to its best season in 10 years (5-1-1). Joe has held head coach sway at Port Jervis the past four years. This year his club is 2-4 on the season.

Mirror of Time

—by J. D. Shafer

10 Years Ago

A Liberty Street factory in Roseto was totally destroyed by fire. Firemen estimated the loss at $30,000. There were no injuries.

Two Philadelphians were seriously injured in an auto accident about six miles south of Mount Pocono when the car they were riding in slid on icy pavement and struck two other cars and several guard rails. All three cars were estimated by police as total losses.

Many members of Company "G," stationed in Camp Attenury, Ind., were invited to private home for hTanksgiving dinner but failed to show up at the home.

Firemen in Reading saved the life of a 96-year-old man from a fire in his apartment. The fire routed more than 250 people in the area of the fire, which turned out to be a mattress that had caught fire from a lighted cigarette.

20 Years Ago

The St. Charles Hotel and the Roth Store, both in Gouldsboro, were robbed. A total of $40 in cash, a radio, 20 cartons of cigarettes and 22 quarts were taken from both places.

Representative Leo Achterman was listed as one of the possible men to be named as majority leader in the General Assembly.

A 65-year-old resident of Pocono Summit was hit by a car as he walked along Route 490 near Pocono Summit.

Remember in 1920 when victory medals were being distributed in Monroe County to all World War I veterans?

The Allen-Scott Report

Castro May Attack Base

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — For the first time, there are definite indications that Premier Fidel Castro actually intends to launch an armed attack on the U. S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay.

For this purpose, the Soviet-aligned Cuban Dictator has—

Obtained a startlingly large amount of Communist weapons and munitions, chiefly from Czechoslovakia. Included are numerous MIG interceptors, tanks, self-propelled guns and thousands of automatic weapons. Cuba is now one of the most heavily armed countries in all of Latin America.

Secretly set up a special combat force of some 3,800 foreign Communist officers and troops, among them Red Chinese, who were brought to Cuba in the guise of "technicians."

Put in command of the contemplated assault on Guantanamo a Russian-trained Spanish Communist — General Alberto Bayo, who was active in the bloody Spanish civil war in the late 1930s.

Bayo's headquarters are in Oriente Province, about 60 miles from the U. S. base. Most of his staff is Russian.

This menacing build-up against Guantanamo was an important factor in President Eisenhower's decision to establish a powerful naval patrol in the Caribbean. These carriers and destroyers not only will guard against any Castro aggression in Central America, but also be immediately available for an attack on Guantanamo.

Both Naval Intelligence and the Central Intelligence Agency are now convinced that is definitely contemplated by Castro and the Communist clique ruling Cuba.

Previously these authorities were inclined to accept Castro's public statements that armed force would not be used to evict the U. S. from Guantanamo. But this view has been revised with the appearance of General Bayo, the establishment of his Red-staffed Otiente headquarters, and the secret combat force of foreign Communist mercenaries.

President Eisenhower and Secretary Herter, in their conference in Augusta last week, discussed a Central Intelligence report warning that Castro now has both the "intention and capability" of assaulting Guantanamo.

This conclusion was publicly voiced by Assistant Secretary Thomas Mann in a little-noticed speech on November 9 at Baylor University, Waco, Texas. He is the new head of Inter-American Affairs, replacing Roy Rubottom, who was made Ambassador to Argentina.

"None of us at home or abroad should under-estimate this military danger," said Mann. "Large quantities of arms are being accumulated in Cuba. Hundreds of Russian, Czechoslovakia and Red Chinese 'technicians' have been imported. They speak of 'invasion' of Cuba, but what they really intend is to divert attention from their own aggression plans. They claim to seek peace, while they promote class hatred and violence at home and conflict and turmoil abroad."

What Castro's Got — Central Intelligence's special report on Cuba has also been submitted to President-elect Kennedy.

The detailed estimate of Castro's extraordinary military build-up were compiled jointly by CIA and Naval Intelligence. Publishable highlights of their findings on Castro's startling military build-up from Communist sources are as follows:

Air Force — 225 combat planes of all types, including 68 MIG-17s and 8 MIG-15s, obtained from Czechoslovakia. Also 80 conventional bombers, 24 of them U. S. World War II B-25s. The airforce has a strength of around 4,000; more than 800 from Czechoslovakia, Red China and other Iron Curtain countries.

Army — Upwards of 25,000 with around 1,500 foreign Communist officers and non-coms. In addition, a special combat force of 3,800 Iron Curtain mercenaries are in closely-guarded bivouacs in Oriente Province.

Peoples Militia — Now about 225,000 and being steadily expanded to upwards of 300,000 by next July. It is equipped with Communist-supplied World War II rifles, automatic weapons, bazookas and mortars.

Navy — Some 60 small vessels, none as large as a destroyer. Strength around 2,500. This meager and over-aged naval force is one of Castro's major military weaknesses. It definitely prevents him from supporting Caribbean aggressions with tanks and other heavy weapons.

However, thanks to his Communist arms suppliers, the bearded Cuban dictator now has a large arsenal of tanks and other powerful offensive weapons, as follows:

160 Russian tanks, ranging from 30 to 60 tons.

200 self-propelled guns from 75mm to 120mm.

250 armored mounting guns from 30mm to 105mm, including 50 with 40mm anti-aircraft guns.

125 mortars of 105mm to 120mm caliber, and 350 smaller mortars.

35 mobile 8-inch rocket launchers.

3,000 machineguns.

8,000 automatic weapons of various types of world War II vintage.

4,000 bazookas.

2,000 flame throwers.

175,000 rifles.

10,000,000 rounds of ammunition of all types.

5,000 hand granades.

Cuban Flashes — Secretary Herter will seek a plenary session of the Organization of American States to consider Castro's intensifying threat to other Latin American countries. Herter will ask this meeting to be held in Washington early in December. The U. S. will back up its charges against Castro with detailed reports on the large amounts of arms he is getting from the Reds and captured documents of his aggression plans.

A Cuban military mission is now in Russia seeking more weapons, particularly rockets and naval vessels. Raul Castro, brother of Fidel and commander of the armed forces, is telling associates he may fly to Moscow to join these discussions.

Under a 1903 treaty, renewed in May 1934, the U. S. pays $3,386.25 monthly rent for the Guantanamo Base. Under that revised agreement, the U. S. can occupy this military installation until both countries change the terms.

Inside You And Yours

Arthritis Aid

By Burton H. Fern, M. D.

Can anything help arthritis? The kind that sneaks up on you, not the arthritis that explodes with red inflammation!

Definately, yes!

Years of wear and tear can grind arthritis — osteoarthritis — into any joint. Your weight crushes knees and hips. There are some lucky souls who inherit tough, leathery joints that pounding doesn't affect.

Stand straight and walk erect if you want your joints to last. That crooked posture robs years from tired knees and hips.

You can also sleep your way to better knees. Eight horizontal hours rests any tired joint. And old joints, like people, enjoy short daytime rest periods. Frequent short strolls also can pour new life into you and your joints.

Rub away those aches and pains with gentle massage. But avoid heavy hands which crumble old bone into more new dust.

Watch Your Diet!

Diet away your arthritis. Extra pounds pound knees and hips all the harder. The less you eat, the less weight to eat away your joints!

Use heat to cool down pain—especially moist heat which soaks in best. Try a wet-towel sandwich!

Wrap a warm, soaking towel around the joint and cover with several thicknesses of dry towel. Heating pads and lamps — even ordinary 100 or 200 watt sandwich warm for hours.

See your doctor! He may want to oil that rusty joint with cortisone-like medicine. One lubrication may relieve your pain for months.

Tension and aching joints often go steady. Listen:

No one was surprised recently when an English doctor injected comfort into a hundred different joints—not until he revealed his trick syringe with its false bottom.

Faith Cure

He hadn't injected a single drop of medicine! Faith had relaxed a hundred minds to soothe a hundred joints. Tension can tighten muscles into painful spasm which often aches more than the arthritis.

When arthritis is dragging you down, light-hearted spirits become life jackets which keep your head above water. They can buoy you up until you're walking on air.

Tranquilizing prescriptions may also help you ride out emotional storms which pound new pain into weatherbeaten joints.

Aspirin is still the best pain-reliever for aching arthritis.

Yes, you can help your arthritis! Any bonehead who disagrees doesn't have a leg to stand on!

Mental Health Offers Aid

A THREE-YEAR nation wide survey of mental health conditions and problems brought out some interesting observations. The investigators found that nearly one in every four adults said, in effect, that at some time in his life he had felt sufficiently troubled to need help.

Nine out of every 100 persons interviewed said they thought they could have used some help but they would not go for it. But when the replies were broken down they included such responses as 'didn't know how to go about it,' 'didn't know what to do,' 'didn't know where to go.' Another group indicated that they felt shame or hesitancy in seeking help.

Within Same Area

These problems in seeking help all came within the same area of mental health. Were it a physical ailment which needed help, there would have been no hesitancy in going to see a doctor.

In this area the Monroe County Mental Health Association is set up and equipped to give this kind of help. The office of the Association is open from 10 a.m. to 12 noon daily.

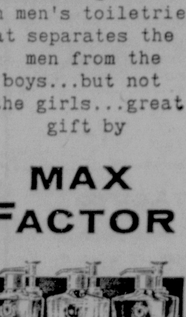

Robert C. Oliver, of the Pennsylvania Mental Health Association, a psychologist and social worker is at the office twice a month. An appointment can be scheduled by calling the office. The address is 618 Main St., Stroudsburg, while phone number is HA 1-1299.

The Monroe County Mental Health Association is one of the 12 member agencies of the Monroe County Community Chest and Council.

James McGonigle — "Cable King"

Mt. Pocono Man Retires From Depot

TOBYHANNA Signal Depot's "Cable King" has retired at age 67. He is James McGonigle, of Mt. Pocono, who for 20 years has been chief cable maker for the Army Signal Corps.

Hired as a laborer at the Brooklyn, N. Y., Army Base in April 1940, he was assigned to a cable shop just being formed. Three months later, when his foreman suddenly died, McGonigle found himself in charge of the tiny pre-World War II operation.

After Pearl Harbor, to take care of the Army's surging need for all types of special cables, the shop was vastly expanded and placed on a three-shift basis.

McGonigle estimates he and his men turned out more than 2,000 different types of cables during the war. They ranged in length from a few inches to assemblies of several miles.

In World War I he served in the Army and went to France with the 316th Field Remount Squadron, helping to break in horses for the artillery.

Without any formal training, McGonigle was able to adapt himself to the highly technical work of the Signal Corps. Usually he had blueprints to go on, but often his only instructions were verbal. He earned the name "Cable King" early when the engineers learned they could depend on him to fill their requirements exactly.

Four Depots

McGonigle served at four signal depots. From the Brooklyn Army Base he transferred to the Philadelphia Signal Depot in 1941, to the Baltimore Signal Depot in 1947, and to Tobyhanna in 1954. Always he continued in his job as chief cable maker.

McGonigle and his wife, the former Claire Friebe, will make their home near their two married sons in Williamstown, Mass.

Dear Abby

Be Subtle, Dearie

Dear Abby: If a girl has had quite a lot of experience with kissing and a fellow goes to kiss her, is she better off pretending she doesn't know what it's all about? Or should she just use what she doesn't know knows and let him think the worst? Please answer before Saturday night.

"LITTLE ACTRESS"

Dear "Actress": Do what comes naturally— but don't put on your best performance. (What will you do for an encore?)

* * *

Dear Abby: On the first of September my husband's brother's son came to stay with us. He is attending college near by. His parents said they would pay us for his keep. So far all they sent was ten dollars for the first month and five dollars for the second.

Tell me, do you think this is enough for the boy's room, board and laundry? I've asked my husband to write to his brother but he doesn't want to appear money-hungry. Would it look bad for me to write?

The boy is 18 and, bless his heart, he eats like a lumberjack. By the way, they have more money than we do.

UNDERPAID

Dear Underpaid: You should have had a clear-cut financial arrangement with the boy's parents beforehand. Fifteen dollars for two months hardly covers the milk bill for an 18-year-old boy. If you don't write, you're wrong.

* * *

Dear Abby: My child made a low grade on a test at school and the teacher wrote across his paper — "This is a Disgrace!" Abby, I want to ask you, is it a disgrace to get a low grade? Do you suppose the teacher knows the meaning of the word "Disgrace?"

My child is deeply hurt. To the extent of not wanting to continue school. I am heartsick. I've talked with some people about it and they said I should report her to the principal. But I'm afraid he will call the teacher on the carpet and she will be harder on my child.

How should we handle th's problem?

HURT PARENTS

Dear Hurt: See the teacher. Teachers are only human, and perhaps she hurriedly wrote those words not realizing how deeply hurt the child would be. She might appreciate your going directly to her instead of "reporting" her to the principal, and would be more thoughtful in the future.

* * *

Dear Abby: In regard to the 14-year-old "Cinderella" who complained about having to be in by midnight: We are a group of GI's between the ages of 18 and 55, and we are required to be in bed for bed check by 12:15 a.m. If we are not there, we are subject to court martial. So tell Cinderella to put that in her glass slipper and dance on it.

RESTRICTED
(TEAU, KOREA)

Confidential to "Waiting to be Paid:" Take a lesson from my Uncle Henry, who was a credit manager. He sent out a letter saying, "We have done more for you than your mother. She carried you for nine months — we've carried you for twelve. Please remit."

9 Known Dead In Avalanche

TOKYO (AP)—Search parties recovered the bodies of four more university students from the snow-covered slopes of Mt. Fuji yesterday, bringing the known death toll of Saturday's avalanche to nine. One youth was still missing and feared lost. Two girls were among the dead.

About 400 police, students, local alpine clubs and a company of Japanese troops took part in the search.

Fifty-five students on a climbing expedition had been caught by the shallow but powerful avalanche.

Only 12 escaped unhurt. Rescuers found 33 students injured.

U. S. Clerk Shot By Cuban Officer

HAVANA (AP)—A Cuban army captain in civilian clothes shot and seriously wounded a young U. S. Embassy clerk last night after a nightclub argument about the authenticity of an American $5 bill.

Cuban police said Sunday the clerk, Wayne Henderson, 22, of Pasadena, Calif., had refused to pay his check in Cuban pesos and called them "Communist money."

Dauphin Judge Plans To Retire

HARRISBURG (AP) — Judge Karl E. Richards confirmed Monday he will retire next Jan. 2, paving the way for the possible appointment of a Democrat to the all-Republican Dauphin County Court.

"It's time for me to make way for a younger judge," Richards said in making his announcement. He will be 74 in January. He has been judge of the Orphans Court since 1937. His present term extends to January, 1968.

The Harrisburg Sunday Patriot-News reported that Patrick E. Kerwin of Lykens, chairman of the State Liquor Control Board, reportedly is the man Gov. Lawrence will name to fill the vacancy.

The appointee will have to run for election next November.

Seize Shipment From Matamoras

HARTFORD, Conn., (AP) — The U. S. Attorney's office here has ordered the seizing of a quantity of cosmetics shipped to Connecticut from Kolmar Cosmetics Specialties, Inc., of Matamoras, Pa.

U. S. Atty. Harry W. Hulgren Jr. said yesterday the cosmetics do not contain the ingredients nor accomplish the results advertised by the company.

They are harmless but mislabeled, he said. The shipment comprises skin powder, cold cream and lipstick.

Just Between Us — —

Sitting down on a chair that's far lower than it looked, stepping up a step that isn't there, lifting something that looks heavy but isn't, or leaning against a door that isn't latched: all lead to a surprising and not especially agreeable sensation.

Somehow holidays catch me much the same way. One day I'm straining every nerve trying to keep up with the hectic rush of events — and then there's nothing going on at all — not for printing, that is.

The social calendar waxes so fat that a single day takes up a half column and then without warning it dwindles away to nothing. Which doesn't mean that holidays aren't among the most social times of the year, but the parties are private, not public, in homes, not club rooms, family not fraternal.

You'd think after all these years that I'd get over being surprised but I'm the trusting sort—or at least the let's-not-cross-our-bridges kind, and here I am looking pained and surprised again. Part of my grievance, of course, comes from the very nature of a newspaper.

Since we don't publish on the holiday itself, the day off comes the day before a holiday. Here we are all ready to make merry and everybody else is up to their necks in last-minute preparations for company, with no time to waste on us.

Houses, already spick and span, need the final touches of flowers and over-flowing cornucopias, refrigerators already bulging with raw material for the feast have to be re-arranged with preliminary preparations. And Wednesday night, everybody's home watching out the window for the kids to arrive from college, the married children to come home with the baby, Grandma and Granddad to come in.

But Thursday with the excitement of the game and the surfeit of the dinner safely past and everybody ready to relax and be sociable, we're back at work in an office where the phone doesn't ring and there isn't any mail, and nobody knows we're alive.

Oh well, maybe if I feel sorry enough for us now I can get it all out of the way by Thursday, and relax in the thought that at least somebody else has to do the dishes from my own Thanksgiving dinner.

Miss Mary Lou Harlan, Robert Courtright Wed

Miss Mary Lou Harlan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Harlan of 4306 Chetwin Terrace, Bethlehem Twp., became the bride of Robert A. Courtright, son of Norman Courtright and the late Jennie Courtright of Stroudsburg RD 4.

The candlelight ceremony was performed Saturday night in the Ev. Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd in Easton by Rev. Glenn G. Neubauer. Paul K. Wolper was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of lace over peau de soie, fashioned with a portrait neckline. A crown of pearls held her veil of silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of white pompons with ivy.

Miss Lee F. Mason of Easton was maid of honor and Mrs. Colleen Courtright, of Stroudsburg, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid.

The attendants wore gowns with gold velvet tops and skirts of pale yellow silk organza. Their headpieces were of gold velvet leaves encrusted with pearls. They carried Fall flowers of gold, yellow and bronze.

The flower girl, Teri Lynn Ruland, niece of the bride, wore a dress of pale yellow silk organdy with a white pinafore and carried a basket of Fall flowers in the same colors in miniature with a matching headpiece of flowers.

Clifford W. Sloyer of Easton was best man. Herbert Courtright, brother of the bridegroom, and Charles Jenkenson were ushers.

A reception followed at the Concordia Maennerchor Club in Easton.

The couple will reside at 431 Oakwood Ave., Stroudsburg.

THANKSGIVING Cornucopias of wafer dough filled with whipped maple cream overflow Thanksgiving bounty.

Sweets For The Holiday Table Add Special Flavor

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
(AP Food Editor)

Does your family, like ours, appreciate a lagniappe — a gracious extra — among traditional Thanksgiving desserts?

If so, plan to concoct a sweet trifle that may be brought out as a pleasant surprise hours after the pumpkin and mince pies have been devoured. No matter how the diners around our holiday table moan that they "can't eat another thing" the extras are always consumed. One batch of hearty eating seems to breed a desire for more.

The lagniappe also has a practical use. Whether dinner is at noon or between six and seven o'clock, there are often relatives and friends dropping in during the afternoon or evening. Then the extra dessert is perfect to serve with a fresh batch of tea or coffee.

So this year what is the offering to be? We vote for Maple Cream Cornucopias, and here's the how and why of this suggestion.

For years we've been using the same wafer recipe — one calling for flour, butter and blended maple syrup—that may be familiar to you. These we rolled in the traditional tube shape. But recently we had a bright idea that worked out just the way we dreamed it would. We shaped the wafers into cornucopias. Then reminded of the cone-shaped wafers lusciously filled with whipped cream, beloved by Europeans, we gave our cornucopias the same treatment.

These trifles are rich, as befits a holiday dessert. But for all their lavish taste they are pleasantly inexpensive.

Maple Cream Cornucopias

½ cup blended maple syrup
¼ cup butter
½ cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
Maple Cream

Stir together syrup and butter in saucepan over high heat; bring to a boil and boil hard ½ minute. Remove from heat; add flour and salt and stir until smooth. Drop level tablespoons, three inches apart, on greased cookie sheet. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven nine minutes. Remove from oven and cool about one minute. With wide spatula or pancake turner remove a wafer and quickly lap over two edges to form cornucopia shape; with fingers press lapped edges lightly together. Quickly shape remaining wafers, one at a time, the same way (if any wafers harden before they are rolled, return to oven for a few seconds). Lightly spoon Maple Cream into cornucopias without packing down; wrap individually for freezing and place in freezer at once. Serve without defrosting as finger food. Makes 12.

Maple Cream: Beat together one cup heavy cream, ¼ cup blended maple syrup and a pinch of salt until just stiff.

Note: If you have no freezer, make and shape the wafers; store in a tightly covered container. At serving time fill with Maple Cream.

Deer Road Kill Seen Real Heavy

CARL C. Stainbrook, Supervisor of the Northeast Division, Pennsylvania Game Commission, reports that the highway kill of deer has been unusually heavy in some parts of the state this year.

During the past two weeks, District Game Protector Edward Gdosky has had 30 deer killed by automobiles in his district which covers Luzerne County west of the Susquehanna River and in the Red Rock area. Gdosky reports the weekend of November 5, 9 deer were killed —3 bucks and 6 does. On November 11, 7 legal bucks were killed and on November 15, 6 deer were killed—2 legal bucks and 4 does.

On November 10, District Game Protector Robert Nolfe, Lower Luzerne County, reported 6 deer killed and on November 15, 3 bucks were killed. On November 1, District Game Protector John Spencer, Mt. Pocono, had 7 killed in one night.

During the month of October, 104 male deer and 130 female deer and 8 bear had been killed by automobiles in northeastern Pennsylvania. It has been a constant nightly call to pick up highway killed big game to prevent further accidents. The November highway kill will no doubt be larger with the rutting season at its peak and the deer moving across over highways. Motorists are requested to be on the lookout to prevent a serious accident.

American thoroughbred breeding farms cover a total area three times the size of Rhode Island. Their stock is valued at 65 million dollars.

Applications For Watersheds

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Soil Conservation Commission Monday received applications for federal assistance for planning and building small watershed improvements in Columbia, Clinton and Centre counties.

One application covered the 17,141-acre watershed of Hemlock Creek in Columbia County and the other was for 121,600 acres of the watershed of Fishing Creek in Clinton and Centre counties.

The commissioners and soil conservation districts of the three counties supported the applications.

The objective of the project in Columbia County is to reduce flooding in West Bloomsburg.

In other areas, problems include siltation of streams, lack of water storage and flood damage to small towns and villages, as well as agricultural conservation problems.

Hemlock Creek is a tributary of Fishing Creek. The lower limit of the watershed is at Bloomsburg.

Made The Difference

Big Improvement In Cavalier Line Noted

By CURT PRINS
Sports Editor

EAST STROUDSBURG High School's football season has been dictated by the Cavalier line.

Described by Cavalier coach Jack Kist as big but slow at the beginning of the year, the line has improved its speed tremendously.

On the days the line charged both offensively and defensively, East Stroudsburg produced an effective attack but in games when the line rested on its heels, it was tough sledding for the Cavaliers.

It wasn't until the Port Jervis game that Kist really expressed pleasure with the speed of his line. "It was the first game we saw heads popping across the line as soon as the ball was snapped," says Kist.

But it was a week later at Nazareth that the Cavalier line reached its peak. It held the Blue Eagles to seven points, something that powerful Northampton could not accomplish. Bangor was the only other team to limit the Eagles to a single touchdown.

Although Hellertown managed only 14 points against East Stroudsburg the Cavalier line could not contain the Panthers until the second half, Parkland also had an easy time with the East Stroudsburg line.

The line is anchored by two good defensive ends who are tough on sweeps, Earl Palmer and Harry Van Vliet. Although neither boy is a heavyweight, they can still get the job done. John Sandstrom, Kist's top end, was injured at mid season and will not play Thursday.

Vince Patella and Bud Stann handle the tackle spots. Patella is probably the Cavaliers' best interior lineman. Offensively he is a good blocker and backing the line on defense he has enough speed to cover a wide range.

Holds Promise

Stann, a 265-pounder, has little movement to the sides but can take care of anything that comes straight ahead. A sophomore and only 16 years old, Stann is far from his peak as a football player and with more aggressiveness could be a first class college prospect.

The Cavalier guards are Mike Boushell and Earl Metzgar both underrated players. Metzgar is one of the leaders in individual tackles on the club and Boushell is a good offensive performer. Hank Harris may be a starting guard Thursday.

The center spot has bothered Kist all year, although Jack Vineyard and Bob Deiter helped the situation near the end of the season.

Dave Harmon switched to center for the Hellertown game turned in an excellent job but when fullback Harold (Mach 2) Myers was injured, Harmon was returned to his backfield post.

The backfield will be hurt by the absence of quarterback Jack Fellman, who will see only limited action because of a twisted ankle.

Fellman is a good passer and ball handler and gives the club a fourth running back. He gained 80 yards in the Port Jervis game, running mostly on belly series plays.

Fellman will be replaced by sophomore Jack Van Horn, who guided the club against Nazareth two weeks ago. Before the Nazareth game, Van Horn had been used only sparingly and had played on Monday's with the junior varsity.

Van Horn does not have the Fellman tools but showed that he can do the job in his Nazareth debut.

Brian Farris and Jim Steele will work at halfbacks with Bill Bonser also seeing action.

Farris is a threat anytime he gets a block in the line. Once he gets into the defensive secondary, he is hard to stop. A good punt and kickoff return man, Farris is also a defensive standout.

Overlooked

Steele, has been overshadowed by both Myers and Farris but cannot be overlooked by the defense. Steele is a good pass receiver and can get his share of rushing yardage. Bonser can work from either side and turned in a good performance against Hellertown, when he replaced Myers.

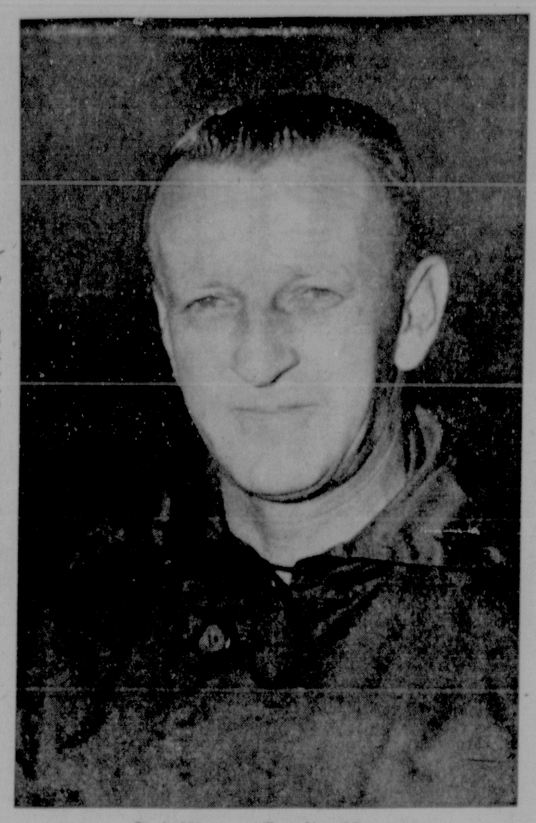

Myers, who is probably the most explosive back in the area, leads the Cavaliers in scoring with 55 points and also in ground gaining. He is particularly effective on punt and kickoff returns. He will probably be rested on defense.

The Cavaliers have a good kicking game, even with Fellman, their top punter sidelined. Farris handled the punting task last week and averaged 36 yards a boot.

Patella does the kickoff work. He has the power to put the ball in the end zone but has not been consistent.

Fellman handled the extra-points and last week with their PAT man out of action the Cavaliers passed for their conversion.

If the game is close Fellman's PAT absences may be felt.

LA Franchise Okay Is Expected Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Despite the storm signals raised by Commissioner Ford Frick and the opposition of Dodger owner Walter O'Malley, the American League Monday planned to formally approve a franchise in Los Angeles at its meeting here Tuesday.

President Joe Cronin, who arrived in New York a day ahead of schedule, said his beleaguered American League intends going through with its plan to allocate 56 big league players — at $75,000 a man — to the new ninth and tenth clubs immediately after the owners of the Los Angeles club have been established.

A franchise for the new team in Washington, left vacant when the Senators moved to Minneapolis-St. Paul, was awarded a 10-man syndicate headed by Elwood Quesada, head of the Federal Aviation Agency, last week.

Dell Webb, co-owner of the New York Yankees, was dispatched to Los Angeles last Friday to contact O'Malley and negotiate a settlement for the $450,000 he reportedly spent in moving his club to the West Coast three years ago.

Before meeting with Webb, O'Malley made it plain that the least important of the conditions would be compensation to the Dodgers by the new American League entry.

O'Malley said he is not opposed to an American League club moving into his area, but feels there should be no move in 1961, the American League's target date.

"I am opposed to another club here in 1961 because I do not want sharing of the crowded schedule in the Coliseum," he said.

Major league law now states that one league cannot move into the other league's territory without unanimous consent by both leagues. The American League has proposed an amendment to change that ruling.

Commissioner Ford Frick has declared he will cast a tie-breaking vote in favor of the American League, in the event of a deadlock over an amendment, only if the Americans made a "fair and equitable" settlement with O'Malley.

Boston Center Punches Krebs

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Russell, all-star center of the Boston Celtics, was fined $100 Thursday by President Maurice Podoloff of the National Basketball Association for a run-in with Jim Krebs of the Los Angeles Lakers Nov. 12.

Russell, according to Referee Jim Duffy's report, "flagrantly fouled Krebs, knocking him unconscious and causing a serious laceration of the lip." According to accounts of the game, played at Providence, Russell hit Krebs with a left-hand punch.

Pete Dawkins Wins Rugby Title

OXFORD, England (AP)—Pete Dawkins, former Army football All-America, Monday won his second Rugby Union "Blue" for Oxford University.

The 22-year-old West Point graduate startled the British by winning a place on Oxford's team last season after playing the English game for only 10 weeks.

Now he's been picked again for the annual match against Cambridge at Twickenham, the home of British Rugby, on Dec. 6.

A "Blue" is awarded to students who gain places in sports events between Oxford and Cambridge.

Loftus Named To Jockeys Hall Of Fame

BALTIMORE (AP) — Johnny Loftus, rider of the first triple crown winner, was voted Monday into the Jockeys Hall of Fame at Pimlico.

Loftus rode Sir Barton to victories in the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes in 1919.

Loftus, a native of Chicago, also was one of the jockeys to ride Man O'War. He rode from 1909 to 1919 and had 509 winners out of 2,092 mounts.

Aussie Coach Warns Swimmers

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Australian swimmers must match the "ferocious determination" of their American rivals if they are to regain their superiority at the 1964 Tokyo Olympics, Australian Coach Harry Gallagher said Monday.

He was commenting on the Australian failure at the Rome games.

Hansen AL's Top Rookie

FT. KNOX, Ky. (AP)—Pvt. Ron Hansen tripped and almost fell on the parade ground Monday after learning he had been picked as the American League's rookie of the year for 1960.

"I can't believe it. . .unbelievable," said the 22-year-old shortstop for the Baltimore Orioles, dropping out of the close order drill formation.

Hansen, whose bat and glove work helped catapult the Orioles from sixth place to second in one year, collected 22 of 24 votes from a special committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America. The other two were split between his teammates, first baseman Jim Gentile and pitcher Chuck Estrada.

"I'm so surprised at this, there is nothing to say. This is something every ball player dreams of but never believes will happen."

Hansen won't be released from the Army until April 15, 1961, when he goes into the reserves.

Gem City Bowl This Thursday

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—The third annual Gem City Bowl football game will be played Thanksgiving morning in Erie Academy Stadium.

Gophers First In Tight Race

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

MINNESOTA'S once-beaten Gophers regained first place Monday in the Associated Press' weekly football poll in a close battle with Iowa and Mississippi.

Missouri, which had taken over the No. 1 spot a week ago after Minnesota was upset by Purdue, fell all the way to fifth place following its first loss, to Kansas.

The balloting was so close that the national championship which will be based on next week's final vote remained in doubt.

Minnesota received 424½ points, Iowa 417½, and Mississippi 398.

While Minnesota and Iowa have finished their regular season as co-champs of the Big Ten, Mississippi has a final game with Mississippi State Saturday after an open date last week.

Iowa received the most first place votes, 17½, with Minnesota getting 13½. One of the 48 selectors couldn't pick between the two, giving each half a first place vote. Mississippi accounted for 13 first place ballots.

The difference was in second and third place votes, where Minnesota held a slight edge over Iowa.

Huskies Fourth

During the regular season, Iowa lost only to Minnesota, 27-10. Minnesota was beaten only by Purdue, 23-14. Iowa was No. 2 and Minnesota No. 4 last week. Then Minnesota ended its season by beating Wisconsin 27-7, and Iowa blanked Notre Dame 28-0.

The University of Washington, the Big Five Conference champion and host team in the Rose Bowl Jan. 2, moved up from fifth to fourth place. Washington had a scare Saturday before edging Washington State 8-7.

Missouri's skid followed its 23-7 defeat by Kansas Saturday. The Kansas victory moved the Jayhawks into the No. 10 spot. Duke, No. 6 a week ago, dropped out of the top 10 after dropping a 7-6 decision to North Carolina. The Blue Devils meet UCLA Dec. 3.

Arkansas, which ended its regular season by trimming Texas Tech 34-6, advanced from No. 7 to sixth place. Navy, idle and awaiting its big service clash Saturday with Army, jumped a notch from eighth to seventh.

Auburn Eighth

Auburn, ninth a week ago, whipped Florida State 57-21, and took over eighth. Auburn meets Alabama Saturday. Ohio State, 10th a week ago, beat Michigan 7-0 and took over ninth.

The leaders, with first place votes, season won-lost-tied records in parentheses (points figured on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis):

1.	Minnesota (13½) (8-1)	424½
2.	Iowa (17½) (8-1)	417½
3.	Mississippi (13) (8-0-1)	398
4.	Washington (2) (9-1)	249
5.	Missouri (9-1)	241
6.	Arkansas (8-2)	228
7.	Navy (8-1)	188
8.	Auburn (1) (8-1)	149
9.	Ohio State (7-2)	117
10.	Kansas (7-2-1)	48

Scheffing Named As Tiger Manager

By JERRY GREEN

DETROIT (AP)—Bob Scheffing, an ex-catcher with a reputation for handling young players, Monday was hired to manage the Detroit Tigers and restore vigor to the ailing club.

The 45-year-old former pilot of the Chicago Cubs got a two-year contract at an estimated yearly salary of $35,000.

The veteran National Leaguer received the job after a seven-week search by the Tigers for a successor to Joe Gordon, who quit Oct. 3, one day after the end of the 1960 season.

"We hired Bob for two reasons," said John Fetzer, Tiger president. "He came about as highly recommended as any manager could be. Everyone we spoke to has a high regard for him.

"And he's considered a fine developer of young talent. I'm sure he's the man who can get the job done for us."

Scheffing, the Tigers' choice after Casey Stengel turned down the job, commented cautiously: "I don't feel I'm qualified to talk about the Tigers' problems right now," he said. "All I know is that they have them.

Scheffing, a St. Louis native, flew here Sunday night from the Scottsdale, Ariz., home for the news conference announcement of his signing.

The new manager faces an uphill chore in returning the Tigers to prominence in the American League. The club hasn't had a contender since 1950 and has finished as high as fourth only twice in the last 10 seasons. Detroit hasn't won a pennant since 1945.

Jersey Kart Driver Snaps Own Record

BYRNE Sciotiano, kart driver from Garfield, N.J., broke his own record for the quarter mile course at the Pocono Kart Kourse, East Stroudsburg going the distance in 28.7 seconds. His old record was 29 seconds.

Sciotiano in breaking his record also won first place in the A-super and B-modified feature event Sunday. Running in second place was Larry Micholas of Hasbrouck Heights, N.J.

In the first place position of the A-modified and bushing feature it was Herman Esselman of Milansville, and James Dolan of Fair Lawn, N.J., was second.

"Skip" Miller, kourse operator, said "There were 61 karts participating in the races."

This Sunday will end the season at the Pocono Kourse.

O'Malley Doesn't Oppose AL's Move

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Owner Walter O'Malley of the Los Angeles Dodgers said Monday he is not opposed to an American League club moving into this area.

But he added that there should be no move in 1961, and he does not want another team permanently sharing his new stadium, now being built.

O'Malley issued a statement just before meeting with New York Yankee owner Del Webb, chairman of the American League expansion committee. The American League has announced plans, so far indefinite, to start a team here in 1961.

Top golfer Arnold Palmer's father, Deacon Palmer, also was a professional golfer around Latrobe, Pa.

Poc. All-Stars, Magicians Exhibition Tonight At 8

THE HARLEM MAGICIANS make one of their 210 one-night stands tonight at 8, against the Pocono Mountain All-Stars, at Stroud Union High School's gym.

Led by dribble king Marques Haynes and kept in comedy gear by Sam (Boon) Wheeler, the Magicians parlay top basketball and gags into a clever hardwood production.

Paul Martin . . . Frontliner

Haynes, who spent the early part of his professional career with the Harlem Globetrotters, is considered the "World's Greatest Dribbler."

Back Dribble

He can lie on his back, dribbling with his left hand, arch his back, pass the ball underneath and continue the dribble with his right hand. He is also capable of freezing the ball for minutes at a time.

Wheeler, who plays the pivot is also the pivot man for most of the comedy routines. But Wheeler has a great hook shot and can fake well enough to shake loose underneath.

Josh Grider, another ex-Globetrotter specializes in an over-the-head set shot with deep knee bend action.

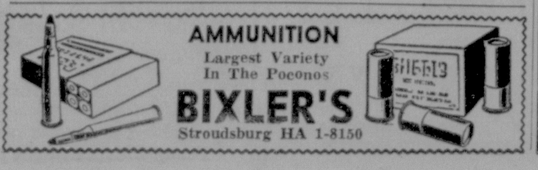

Two Big Men

The Magicians have 6-8 Paul Martin and 6-9 Jim Satterwhite on their front line. And Magicians first line reserve is Arthur Smith of Ardmore, Okla., who scored 390 in 13 games against the College all-Stars two years ago.

The Pocono All-Stars will be made up of Wilmont Smith, Walt Bjorn, George Metropolis, Dick Merring, Ray Steele, Karl Adelmann, Bob Wert and Bob Turley, a former Wilkes College hoopster, now working at Pocono Manor.

Josh Grider . . . Ex-Globetrotter

Asks Public Report On N-Warfare

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —Poland proposes that a U. N. report on the consequences of nuclear warfare be prepared and published to generate public demand for disarmament.

A Polish resolution that the U.N. Secretariat circulated to delegations yesterday seeks to have the General Assembly establish a committee of scientists to work up the report.

The resolution, which Poland handed in late Saturday, says at the outset that a nuclear war "would threaten mankind with unprecedented destruction and misery" and "turn the world into ruins."

It would have the assembly state that world public opinion, "if awakened to the consequences of war, could constitute an important factor in bringing about an agreement on general and complete disarmament."

It proposes that the assembly name governments to a committee "to prepare a report on the consequences of the use of nuclear weapons, in particular, with regard to human life and health and to the material and cultural heritage of mankind."

No Legal Hazards Seen In Program

HARRISBURG (AP)—There are no legal hazards for doctors in the Commonwealth's driver physical re-examination program, State Traffic Safety Commissioner O. D. Shipley said Monday.

"The attorney general has advised me that a physician can testify only to an individual's condition at the time of examination," Shipley said in a statement.

The safety commissioner said he consulted Atty. Gen. Anne X. Alpern after hearing reports that some doctors are reluctant to conduct the tests for fear of liability in the event the patient became involved in an accident.

"She (Miss Alpern) has pointed out most emphastically that there is nothing in the law that states he would be liable should a patient later become involved in a traffic accident," Shipley added.

Five Burned Bodies Are Found In Car

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP) — State police were investigating yesterday the deaths of five men whose bodies, "burned to a crisp," were found in a car on a county road near here.

Coroner Raymond Call said the bodies were being X-rayed to determine the presence of metal that would indicate the men had been shot.

Call said there was a possibility of foul play because of the "way the bodies were in the car."

"With all the heat, it seems there'd have been some sort of struggle to try to escape," he said. "But there hadn't been. They were sitting just as though they'd just gotten into the car."

The victims were identified as Harvey Ratliff, about 24, found behind the wheel; Buddy Hopkins, about 24; Denver Yates, about 25; Harmond Robinson, about 35; and Louie Hopkins, about 17.

All were from the Greasy Creek area of Pike County.

Trooper Lonnie Leach said state police were called about 8:20 a.m. Sunday and informed a car had been found with the bodies inside at the head of Greasy Creek, 17 miles southeast of here.

Call said the car had "angled off the road, with no impact," down a shoulder and into a creek bed. He said results of the X-rays would be known Tuesday.

BLOOMSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Ronald K. Harvey, 24, of Bloomsburg, was killed last night when a car slammed into the left front fender of an auto he and two other men were pushing.

Taxing Gift Stocks

By William A. Doyle

Q. About 40 years ago, my wife's father bought one share of stock for $100. Since that time, as a result of stock splits and stock dividends, this one share has become 190 shares.

We sold 170 shares this year for $8,500 — $56 a share. Does my wife owe the government anything?

A. You don't provide much information. But that gives us an opportunity to explain some very complex and different tax situations. To make things a bit easier, let's assume that all the stock splits and stock dividends took place before your wife acquired the stock.

If your father-in-law gave the stock to your wife, her tax-cost basis is the price her father paid for the stock. If her father paid any Federal gift tax at the time he gave her the stock, that would also be added to the tax-cost basis. But let's figure that he didn't.

Her father paid $100 for one share—a share which eventually became 190 shares. In this case, the tax-cost basis of each share becomes 53 cents a share —$100 divided by 190 shares.

She sold 170 shares for $8,500. Her tax-cost basis on those shares was $90.10 — 170 times 53 cents. She has a profit of $8,409.90. That profit is taxable as a capital gain. It should be reported on Schedule D of the 1960 income tax return.

However, if your wife inherited the stock, she may have a smaller taxable profit. In that case, the tax-cost basis of the stock should have been established at the time her father's estate was settled.

The value of stock in an estate may be figured as the market value on the date of the owner's death or the market value one year later. It is used for Federal estate tax and state inheritance tax purposes.

It also becomes the tax-cost basis for the heirs who receive the stock.

In a situation such as this one, where the values of the stocks have skyrocketed, it is a big advantage. It cuts down on the taxable capital gains when an heir sells the stock.

Q. It may be fine for wealthy people to give their children their securities during their lifetimes. But what about a couple of moderate means who need the dividends from their stocks but hope to pass the stocks on to their children after death. What do they do?

A. They bequeath the stocks to their children. It should be done through a will, drawn up by an attorney.

Q. I wish to leave my stocks to my son. If I have the stocks registered in both my name and my child's name, will he get the stocks, tax free?

A. If the total value of your estate is small enough to escape both Federal and state death taxes—yes. But, if your estate is subject to taxes, joint ownership of securities will not remove those securities from your estate, as far as taxes are concerned.

This has been stressed here time and again. See a good tax lawyer and get things squared away. It might save your heir money.

(Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.)

Penn To Start Six Seniors

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Penn will start six seniors in the traditional Thanksgiving Day football game against Cornell.

Capt. George Koval will open at tailback for the first time since the second week of the season. A severe knee sprain has handicapped the Penn leader.

Other seniors named by coach John Stiegman as starters for Cornell are fullback Ed Shaw, ends Jon Greenawalt and Jim Dunsmore, and tackles Bruce Cummings and Ed Smith.

To Bless Wedding

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Pope John XXIII has delegated Cardinal Van Roey of Belgium to bless in the pontiff's name the wedding of King Baudouin and Dona Fabiola de Mora y Aragon Dec. 15. The Pope named Cardinal Siri of Vienna as his personal legate.

Business Failures 1,344

NEW YORK (AP) — Business failures totaled 1,344 in October, the highest since April, Dun & Bradstreet Inc. reported. This compared with 1,269 in September and 1,125 in October, 1959.

The business analyst firm said "casualties were occurring at an annual rate of 63 per 10,000 listed enterprises. This rate was noticeably more severe than the 51 per 10,000 a year ago.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Racing Car Builder Dies

CENTER VALLEY, Pa. (AP)—Hiram Hillegass, 65-year-old retired racing car builder, was found dead in his automobile alongside a Berks County road Sunday. State police said it was an evident suicide from carbon monoxide.

Hillegass, a long-time resident of this Lehigh County community, was a sheet metal worker as well as a maker of racing cars. He retired two years ago.

The body was found near Rittenhouse Gap in the area of Seisholtzville.

Kennedy To Drop Assistant's Post

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy expects to wipe out the powerful post of assistant to the president and to slash the White House staff sharply.

Kennedy's chief liaison man with the Eisenhower administration, Clark M. Clifford, outlined the prospects to newsmen after all-day sessions with Kennedy.

Clifford said there has been no discussion of a heavy cut or big overturn down the line through the various government departments and agencies.

Clifford said Theodore Sorensen, 32, will come closest to performing the duties now handled by the assistant to the president.

Clifford said, however, he would rather not comment on whether Sorensen will become the ranking member of the White House staff.

The title Kennedy has listed for Sorensen is that of special counsel. He could very well wind up with the unofficial designation as assistant president, corresponding to the role of Harry L. Hopkins in the Roosevelt administration.

Through the years, Sorensen probably has been closer to Kennedy than any other person, in launching and helping direct the campaign that will put Kennedy in the White House Jan. 20.

Wilton B. Persons now is the assistant to President Eisenhower. Before him it was Sherman Adams, who resigned under Congressional attacks that he accepted favors in returns for favors.

In the Truman administration John R. Steelman held the position.

The White House staff now has 51 persons in top roles—not counting the clerks and secretaries. In the Truman administration, Clifford said the total was about 15. He wouldn't speculate on how many such positions Kennedy will have—positions such as press and appointment secretaries, and administrative assistants.

U.S. Tells Reich To Help Pay Costs

BONN, Germany (AP) — The United States told West Germany Monday it needs immediate relief to dam the outflow of its dollar and gold reserves.

A 24-man delegation led by Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson and Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon explained U. S. needs to a German team headed by economics minister Ludwig Erhard, who is credited with enriching this nation through wise investment of nearly $5 billion in U. S. gifts. The atmosphere was reported friendly but subdued.

Details of the talks were not given out. However, informants said Erhard and his team sought to make U. S. appeals for greater West German contributions to foreign aid the center of attention.

The U. S. negotiators were reported wanting to concentrate on proposals to get the Germans to share in the $700-million annual costs of maintaining U. S. forces in Germany.

Bonn has stated its unwillingness to contribute to these costs, contending it would be reminiscent of payments Germany made for the support of U. S. occupation forces from the end of World War II until 1957. It would prefer that any added contributions go to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Although Bonn has expressed a willingness to help Washington out of its balance of payments troubles, it is said to be balking at a reported request for an immediate outlay of nearly $1.5 billion for foreign aid and NATO defense needs.

Bonn wants to pour between $852 million and $909 million into underdeveloped nations over four years.

The United States has indicated a belief the West Germans are trying to operate an export-subsidiary rather than an aid program in planning to get back from underdeveloped nations between 20 and 25 per cent of disbursed funds through the sale of German goods in 1961.

However, the Germans say a large percentage of their planned outlays next year are expected to be spent by underdeveloped nations in the United States.

West Germany has a balance of payments running annually at about $2 billion. Its gold and foreign currency reserves total more than $7 billion—nearly half the amount of gold the United States now has left.

Claims American Spied

Russia Ousts Attache

MOSCOW (AP)—Maj. Irving T. McDonald, assistant U.S. Air attache, Monday was ordered to leave the Soviet Union. Accused of illegal intelligence activities, he is the fourth U.S. Embassy official to be expelled in 13 months on some form of espionage charge.

Minister Counsellor Edward L. Freers was called to the Soviet Foreign Office in the afternoon and told that McDonald's presence in the Soviet Union was no longer desirable and he must leave as soon as possible.

McDonald, 34, from Provincetown, Mass., is on a trip in the Ural Mountains and is expected back Wednesday. Fluent in Russian, he arrived here April 21, 1959, with his wife and two children.

Legion of Merit

In 1956 he was awarded the Legion of Merit for work with the National Security Agency, a top-secret communications outfit specializing in U.S. and foreign codes.

Freers was told by the chief of the Foreign Office's American section that "competent authorities established that McDonald was continuing intelligence activities incompatible with the status of an accredited diplomatic worker."

The Soviet official charged that McDonald posed as a tourist near the city of Kharkov Oct. 18 in an area around military installations. He was given a warning then, the official said.

The Soviet news agency Tass charged that McDonald "was caught red-handed taking photographs of military objectives during a trip to the town of Kurgan (in southwest Siberia). Notebooks with intelligence information about defense objectives on the Moscow-Kurgan route were taken from him," Tass said.

The Russians previously had connected McDonald with the case of Col. Edwin M. Kirton of Palo Alto, Calif., U.S. Air attache expelled Aug. 10. The Russians charged Kirton organized an intelligence network in the Soviet Union and photographed military and industrial objectives on numerous trips.

McDonald was given a warning at the time of Kirton's expulsion, and Soviet authorities said steps would be taken against him "if he does not cease impermissible activities." The embassy denied the charges against both men.

In Washington, State Department officials were not surprised. They said that after McDonald received his warning in August his expulsion was regarded as a virtual certainty.

Union Chiefs Want Man In Cabinet Post

WASHINGTON (AP)— Labor union leaders are pressing President-elect John F. Kennedy to put a union man in the Cabinet.

They feel the time has come for unions again to have representation at the top government level. This, they suggest, could be accomplished by putting one of their number in as secretary of labor or in some other Cabinet post.

What the unions chiefs really want—and feel they deserve on the basis of organized labor support for the Democrats—is a major voice in the new administration.

Kennedy is to confer here Wednesday with George Meany, AFL-CIO president, and possibly other federation leaders.

The conference was announced as a discussion of unemployment problems. But more than likely it will be a session to work out an understanding of the whole relationship between Kennedy and organized labor during his administration.

Bobby Darin, Sandra Dee To Be Married

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Teenage idol Bobby Darin, 24, and Sandra Dee, 18, who fell in love while making a picture together in Italy, Monday announced their engagement, friends here said.

The two just finished "Come September" with Rock Hudson and Gina Lollobrigida. Darin, who zoomed to fame with his hit recording of "Mack the Knife," flew from Rome to New York a few days ago. Miss Dee arrived there Sunday and Darin met her at the plane.

He gave her a big emerald engagement ring Monday and the blonde actress phoned friends in Hollywood to say that they were engaged.

Two Bodies Recovered; Man Charged

READING, Pa. (AP)—A middle-aged painter was charged Monday with murdering a man whose body, together with that of the woman who employed him, was taken from a crude and unmarked grave.

The accused, 49-year-old Edwin Gockley, was arraigned before Alderman Charles Lease, functioning as a magistrate, and sent to Berks County prison pending further hearing.

Gockley was charged with killing Clement J. Smith, 41, an odd jobs man who worked for Mrs. Mabel Klein, 64, a wealthy divorcee.

On Saturday Gockley led police to the place on the grounds of the tennis club he operated—five miles from the city—where Smith and Mrs. Klein had been buried under a few feet of soil.

Denies Killing Woman

Gockley told police he did not kill Mrs. Klein. He said she died of a natural cause while in Smith's company; that Smith took her body to the tennis club; and that he killed Smith with a shotgun in a quarrel over what to do with the corpse.

Gockley said the gun went off by accident as the two men grappled for it. Then, by the police account, Gockley said he shot Smith again to end his suffering.

The murder charge was formally lodged against Gockley by Elwood M. Krause, a state police detective.

District Attorney Frederick O. Brunaker indicated the state will demand the death penalty. He added that whether a second murder charge would be placed against Gockley depends on the findings of an autopsy performed on Mrs. Klein.

Forgery Counts

At his arraignment Gockley asked, "Is murder all I'm being charged with."

"Isn't murder enough?" said the astonished alderman.

Gockley's question was prompted by no mention at the arraignment of 10 counts of forgery against him, the outgrowth of checks cashed against Mrs. Klein's account after her death.

High Court To Rule On Controversy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court, in what could be a historic step, Monday entered the fight by metropolitan areas to cut down the disproportionate voting power of rural voters.

Specifically, the court agreed to look into the refusal of the Tennessee Legislature to reapportion seats in the state legislature since 1901.

If the court later decides, after hearing arguments on both sides, to rule on the controversy it could have nationwide repercussions. Similar situations of disparity in relative voting power between rural and metropolitan areas exist in many states.

Requirement

The Tennessee constitution requires reapportionment of the General Assembly every 10 years by counties or districts according to the number of qualified voters.

The litigation was brought by a group of voters living in metropolitan areas in Tennessee, including Nashville, Chattanooga and Knoxville.

Through the years, the Supreme Court has handed down numerous decisions refusing to interfere with districts laid out by the states.

The National Institute of Municipal Law Officers filed a brief supporting efforts to compel a reapportionment of legislative districts in Tennessee.

The institute said that in the last two decades the United States has become predominantly urban, with more than two-thirds of the population living in cities and suburbs.

Churchill Gets Out Of Bed

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill got out of bed Monday for the first time since taking a tumble last week that broke a small bone in his back.

Attendants propped him in a chair, where he sat for a while —cheerful despite the clatter of street drills outside the window of his London home.

Boy Arraigned

DALLAS, Pa. (AP) — Teenager Kenneth Schweiss yesterday was arraigned on a charge of murder in the slaying of his father, Kurt, 45, a state policeman, allegedly after an argument over school marks.

Pre-Holiday Tragedies

Four Accidents... 28 Lives

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A rash of family-erasing car accidents has marred the nation's safety record in advance of the four-day Thanksgiving Day weekend starting Thursday.

Four separate accidents in the last 10 days killed 28 persons and virtually wiped out three families. The tragedies prompted the National Safety Council to issue a caution warning to all motorists.

By grisly coincidence, each of the four accidents killed seven persons each.

The first fatal stroke of seven in the current series was sounded Nov. 11 when Richard Childester, 29; his wife, Evelyn, 25, and five other members of their family were returning home after visiting their youngest son, Tommy, 1, ill with virus in a hospital at Aurora, Ill. Police were told a trailer-truck collided with another car, jack-knifed and tumbled onto their car, crushing them to death. Tommy was the only survivor.

Then, seven days later the Rev. John Eastman, 29, a Presbyterian minister in southern Minnesota, loaded his six children into the family car and started out from their Lewiston home to visit a friend in a nearby city while his wife attended a school class play. They were killed when the car struck a bridge abutment.

The entire family of Howard R. Lemons, 39, an Oregon lumber company executive, drowned, presumably Sunday, when their car slid past a guard rail near Eugene, Ore., during a rainstorm. Searchers found their car under water Monday in Dexter Lake. Other victims were Mrs. Lemons, 35, and their five children.

Monday, seven persons died when a train struck a car at a crossing in Toltec, Ariz. The dead were identified as Mrs. Annabelle Martin, her brother-in-law, and her young son and Mrs. Ralph Jewel and her two sons. The families lived on a ranch south of Toltec.

Army Action Defended By Kasavubu

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — President Joseph Kasavubu Monday night defended the action of the Congolese army in using force to compel the U.N. Command in the Congo to expel a Ghanaian diplomat.

He made his views known as the U. N. General Assembly plunged into a night debate on whether to accept the recommendation of a credentials committee that a delegation headed by Kasavubu be given the long vacant Congo seat in the Assembly.

Africa Divided

The debate was marked by an exchange of angry charges among African delegates divided on the seating issue. The Assembly was expected to approve the committee's recommendation Tuesday.

Kasavubu and his foreign minister, Justin Bomboko, carried on a long conversation by radio teletype with Col. Joseph Mobutu, the Congolese army commander. Mobutu's troops went into action against the U. N. forces in order to compel the expulsion of Nathaniel Welbeck, the Ghanaian charge d'affaires.

Afterward Bomboko issued a statement from Kasavubu saying the president a month ago had declared Welbeck no longer acceptable in Leopoldville, and accusing Ghana's President Kwame Nkrumah of using insulting language in refusing to accept Kasavubu's ruling.

Sends Regrets

Kasavubu disclosed he had sent cables to the U. N. Secretary-General and President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia expressing regret over the shootings in front of Welbeck's embassy residence, but blaming Ghana's "lack of understanding" for making the show of force necessary.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union Monday night accused the U.N. Command of collaborating with the forces of Col. Joseph Mobutu and demanded an immediate report from Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold on the latest turn of events in the Congo.

Radio Stations Under Conelrad

NEW YORK (AP)—Virtually all the nation's broadcasting stations were integrated directly into the Conelrad alert system Monday with the signing of agreements between the two major news services, the Air Force and the Federal Communications Commission.

The agreements permit instant use by the U. S. Air Defense Command of Associated Press and United Press International wires serving practically all radio and TV stations for transmission of a Conelrad alert.

"Let's hope we never have to use it," said Federal Communications Commissioner Robert E. Lee as he signed the agreement with the Associated Press in the AP building Monday afternoon.

Attack Ghana Embassy In Move To Take Aide

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP)—The Congo army of Col. Joseph Mobutu attacked the U.N.-defended Ghana Embassy residence with machine guns and armored cars Monday night in an effort to seize a top diplomat accused of conspiracy against the Congo regime.

There were uncounted casualties, including Mobutu's chief aide, who was reported killed by the U.N. side.

In the midst of a three-hour Monday night battle the U.N. command yielded and agreed to hand over the diplomat, Nathaniel Welbeck, for expulsion from the Congo. But first efforts to remove him, the U.N. command said, were met with Congolese gunfire and the shooting was resumed early Tuesday.

The whole battle area was blacked out and the U.N. said another effort would be made to get the diplomat out in daylight later Tuesday.

The U.N. command accused the Congolese army of violating an earlier truce agreement and said the Congo soldiers continued firing past midnight at the U.N. defending troops.

Tunisian Defenders

The U.N. officials said the Congolese soldiers were out of control and refused to obey a cease-fire arranged with Mobutu, the Congo's strong man.

Gunfire rattled in a wide area around Welbeck's besieged residence. It was defended by 150 Tunisian infantrymen and a squad of Ghana riot police.

Indian Brig. Gen. Indarjit Rikhye, acting chief of the U.N. mission, was turned back once by a burst of Congolese gunfire when he tried to pass through the ring of Congolese soldiers to get Welbeck out.

The Ghana Embassy is on the bank of the Congo River in an elite residential area.

Among the casualties was Mobutu's second in command, Col. J. Kokolo, who was killed, the U. N. Command said, by a Tunisian machine gunner in the U.N. force defending the Ghana residence.

A high U. N. official called the shooting a tragic mistake.

The U. N. Command said Maj. Gen. Henry T. Alexander, British chief of staff of the Ghana army, arrived in Leopoldville two hours before the shooting began, with a Russian Ilyushin plane to take Welbeck out of the Congo. Welbeck kept insisting he had no intention of leaving, Congolese sources said.

Might Spread

Weary U. N. officials openly feared the shooting might spread to other parts of the Congo capital and bring a major conflict between the Congolese troops and U. N. peace-keeping forces.

The battle at the Ghana residence was the first between the blue-helmeted U. N. troops and the Congolese army.

In any case, the battle widened the rift between the U. N. command and Mobutu.

Newsmen, including several Americans, were driven out of the battle area by Congolese soldiers firing machineguns alongside their cars.

The exact numbers of casualties in the three-hour battle could not be determined immediately. Estimates varied from 7 killed and 7 wounded to 3 killed and 4 wounded. U.N. officials said 2 Congolese were killed.

The U.N. Command finally announced it is bowing to Mobutu's demand for expulsion of Ghana Charge d'Affaires Nathaniel Welbeck. He is accused by Mobutu of plotting to reinstate deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Welbeck had defied the expulsion order, and the U.N. Command —trying to remain neutral in a bilateral scrap between Ghana and Mobutu's Congo regime—had previously refused to help Mobutu oust Welbeck.

Norstad Proposes NATO Become Nuclear Power

PARIS (AP)—U.S. Gen. Lauris Norstad proposed in effect Monday that the Atlantic alliance become a nuclear power, with member nations sharing equal control of the weapons.

The 15-member North Atlantic Treaty Organization already has nuclear missile warheads at its disposal, but they are under tight control of the United States and in some cases Britain.

Norstad is supreme commander of NATO forces in Europe. Speaking to the annual NATO parliamentarians' conference, he said "there should be a basic pool of atomic weapons with an equal voice in control of these weapons."

U.S. Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson was in the audience.

Johnson had assured the some 200 parliamentarians that the recent U.S. election was in no way "a repudiation of President Eisenhower's support for the instruments of mutual strength in Western Europe."

Norstad said greater control of atomic weapons by NATO "could be a great and dramatic new step" which might meet the desires of other nations to have their national nuclear stocks.

In an apparent reference to the U.S. Polaris missile, he said he hoped that during the period of 1963 to 1965 NATO would have "extremely mobile (missile) units, some of which may operate at sea and some which may operate by land." There have been reports that the United States is preparing to offer the submarine-based Polaris to NATO.

10 States Finish Count Of Votes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The presidential election is two weeks in the past, yet only 10 of the 50 states so far have completed their official count of the nearly 68 million votes cast.

Twelve more states may complete the job this week. Fifteen state canvassing boards will meet next week.

The remaining states may not wind things up officially until shortly before the electoral college meets on Dec. 19 to ratify the voters' decision.

Decision

On the basis of unofficial returns tallied since Nov. 8, that decision went to Democrat John F. Kennedy.

But it was a hairbreadth decision and some Republicans who fought to elect Richard M. Nixon have started recounts in a couple of states; may do so in others.

The Democrats also may ask a recount in Hawaii, which Nixon won by 141 votes out of 184,869.

With more than 1,200 precincts still unreported and an undetermined number of absentee ballots yet to be tabulated, the national count stood this way on the basis of official and unofficial state tabulations:

Kennedy 33,919,296.

Nixon 33,744,669.

The difference — 174,627 in Kennedy's favor.

Despite the closeness of the popular vote, Kennedy was the indicted winner in states with a total of 300 electoral votes—31 more than the rock bottom number needed to elect a president. Nixon has 223 electoral votes.

Partial recounts are being sought by Republicans in Illinois and New Jersey, which have a total of 43 electoral votes—27 for Illinois and 16 for New Jersey. If the recounts should shift both states from Kennedy to Nixon neither would have a majority of electoral votes. That would put 14 unpledged electors in Mississippi and Alabama in position to decide the election. If they failed to put either candidate over the top it would be up to the House of Representatives to settle things.

Four Denied Hearing By Tribunal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four persons convicted of defrauding the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission of $19.5 million were denied a hearing by the U.S. Supreme Court Monday.

Appeals had been taken by Thomas J. Evans, Coaldale, Pa., former commission chairman; James F. Torrance, one-time commission member; Charles W. Strickler, president of Manu-Mine Research and Development Corp., of Reading, and Clayton A. Landsidle, former vice president of Manu-Mine.

The four claimed they were deprived of a fair trial and denied equal protection and due process of laws guaranteed by the constitution. The appeal said "intense publicity and bias" was generated by former Gov. George M. Leader.

AF Launches Space Capsule

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force launched a 500-pound space capsule tc an altitude of 32 miles Monday and brought it safely back with the aid of a drag balloon and a parachute.

The launching, from Santa Rosa Island, Fla., was the second successful test of a new high altitude device for the recovery of missile nose cones or of escape capsules and space vehicles returning from orbit.

The new system, dubbed ballute, was developed by Goodyear Aircraft Corp. for the Air Research and Development Command.

Child Health Committee

Madalyn Maloney

LET'S suppose we are in a classroom. A second grade classroom, perhaps, and one of the children is crying. This is not too unusual, as any teacher of little folks will tell you. At that stage, when the world seems very large and the problems of getting along with others very great, tears are frequently shed. But Johnny Jones is not crying because of any personality problems. He has toothache.

This incident might seem to be one any teacher could solve instantly. One might expect her to write Johnny's mother a note, suggesting that he see a dentist, and send him home.

But Johnny's case is not ordinary. He has had toothache on several occasions, and nothing has been done about it. Now the teacher knows why. Johnny comes from an extremely low income family. Whatever money there is to be budgeted must go for food and clothing. Not only have his teeth been neglected. Johnny has always had the type of diet that simply does not provide proper nourishment for his growing body — a diet so inadequate it cannot possibly insure firm, healthy teeth.

Accordingly, Johnny's teacher will not send him home with a note to Mother. She will take him instead to the school nurse, who will probably call Mrs. Donald Gilpin, executive secretary of the Child Health Committee. There will be some investigating by Mrs. Gilpin to determine whether or not Johnny's family is really in need of assistance. If so, help will be offered, and Mrs. Gilpin will contact a dentist to make an appointment for the child.

Help Appreciated

Mrs. Gilpin finds that, when help is extended, it is usually much appreciated, although many families are too proud to solicit aid. Realizing that most parents honestly desire to provide for their own children, any payment they can make — even a dollar a week — is accepted, although the Child Health Committee meets the entire expense when necessary.

Johnny is just one of approximately 200 children who come to the attention of the Child Health Committee each year. Most of them need dental care, as he does, but there are others who require medical or optical examinations.

"Pertaining to eye examinations, we must give full credit to the Lions Club for its project of providing glasses for needy children," Mrs. Gilpin explains. "As a matter of fact, the Lions do such excellent work in the field, our committee spent only 37.00 on glasses last year as compared to 644.00 for teeth and 66.00 for medical care. The only optical cases that come to our attention are those requiring the services of an optician rather than an optometrist — problems that are, in some way, associated with medical or congenital conditions."

Doctors and dentists of this area work very closely with the Child Health Committee, Mrs. Gilpin says, and she is generous in her praise of all who cooperate in the services she requests. Members of the Monroe County Dental Society have set a very low rate for the Committee, and this is exceedingly important when one considers that dental care would otherwise represent a formidable drain on a limited budget.

State Cooperation

One big step forward in dental care is the present trend of schools to have completely outfitted dental rooms, operated in conjunction with a State health program. Stroud Union High School, for example, has such a room, handsomely equipped and donated to the school district by an alumni member Frank Kerr, in memory of his sister, Kathryn, for years a grade school teacher in Stroudsburg. Here periodic examinations are made and notices are issued to parents informing them of dental work required by their child.

Through the State program, indigent children of the first three grades may have their teeth repaired by the Child Health Committee's dental clinician with the Committee paying only for materials used.

Mrs. Gilpin is enthusiastic about this program, pointing out that, when teeth are given the necessary attention thus early in the child's school life, along with counseling as to proper nutrition and oral hygiene, there is an excellent chance of preventing far more costly dental work at a later date.

While it seems almost incredible school dentists are finding that many parents are lax in following-through on dental care, failing to recognize its importance. As Mrs. Gilpin says, "Not only does poor nutrition produce poor teeth, but poor teeth promote bodily ills." Yet so many youngsters are indifferent to oral hygiene, it is not at all unusual for teen-agers to require full, or at least partial, dentures. Just last year the Committee was called upon to provide dentures for four children. It is only through the kindness of the dental surgeon who handles such cases that they could be fitted into the budget. Dentures are, of course, expensive, and Mrs. Gilpin shudders to think what would happen if the need for them were to increase appreciably. "When you stop to consider such a possibility, you can readily see why I so strongly favor early care and an intensified oral health-education program for the children," she emphasizes.

Medical care provided by the Committee is limited to prescriptions, bus fares to out-of-town clinics, and the like. There are also many requests each year for removal of tonsils, but surgery is beyond the financial scope of CHC. Such cases Mrs. Gilpin refers to the local hospital where a number of tonsillectomies are performed charitably at regular intervals.

Formed In 1933

The Child Health Committee was formed here in October of 1933 as part of a program advanced by the State Medical Society to provide necessary medical care for those youngsters up to 16 years of age who were suffering from various illnesses of malnutrition which came in the wake of the Great Depression. Children of extreme low income groups were given a complete physical examination and care.

Dr. Paul Shiffer was named Monroe County Medical chairman, with Mrs. William Webb as lay chairman. The organization was then known as the Child Emergency Health Committee, the word "emergency" later being dropped. For a number of years, until her sudden and untimely death, Miss Helen Kulp served as executive secretary, maintaining an office and an automobile to carry out her duties.

Miss Kulp was succeeded in July of 1954 by Barbara Gregory Gilpin, and the budget was decreased by closing the office and no longer maintaining a car. Today Mrs. Gilpin receives calls at her home on North Eighth street, carrying on the Committee's functions from there. While it is possible for families in need of aid to appeal directly to her, most of the children under her surveillance are brought to her attention by school nurses.

Following Miss Kulp's death, and prior to the reorganization of the Committee, a surgery was conducted to determine whether or not continuance of her project was warranted. A thorough study showed the work was definitely needed, and the results had been exceedingly gratifying.

Budget Low

The operating budget is amazingly low — just a bit over 1500.00 a year, some of which is contributed by the Monroe County Commissioners, the Elks Lodge, and the Junior Women and Progressive Women's Clubs. Parents' payments amount to comparatively little, but are made willingly by those able to do so. The bulk of the budget comes from the Community Chest.

Just what, then, are we as citizens doing when we make our contribution the "Red Feather way?" We are giving the greatest gift possible to a child — the wonderful sense of security and well-being all posses who enjoy good health, so that they may truly share the blessings of their American heritage. We are giving little Johnny Jones freedom from toothache, and his older sister, perhaps, a radiant smile. We are making them both aware that health and beauty are synonymous, and that life is glorious in almost direct proportion to one's physical endowments. This is the achievement of your Child Health Committee. This is your Community Chest.

Selection Of Seals Appealing

THE following letter was addressed to the president and the board of the Monroe County Tuberculosis and Health Society:

"Your selection of seals for 1960 are most appealing to me. I've decided to keep the 300 and use them to help others to see. It's the little things that we can do which will help others to live longer.

"Research scientists are doing a wonderful work, seeking to find relief and curse for many ills suffered by all age groups. I thank God for this knowledge given women and men in the medical field. To them credit can be given that I'm alive at 69 years and hoping to greet 70, the allotted time given man. But by reason of God's grace to comfort them through trials and tribulations, man can live beyond the three score years and 10. However, 'age is a figment of the mind.' You're never old, though ambitious fires seem dead, let hope help you look ahead. In heaven, we're all children of God.

Following the testing program there will be a regular drill in the firehouse.

County Will Pay Tribute To VA Aide

MONROE County Commissioners voted to close the Courthouse Wednesday at noon to allow employes to attend the funeral of Frank Weller, Veterans Affairs officer, who died late Sunday night. The Courthouse will remained closed until Friday when it will open at the regular time.

The board also voted to close the Veterans Affairs office, on Sarah Street, until Monday and then open it with temporary office help until a new person is engaged as Veterans Affairs officer.

In other business, a check for $336 from the Philadelphia-Valley Forge Federation, Boy Scouts of America was turned over to the county.

"This token contribution is a fine example of the high caliber of people in the organization and shows their appreciation of the privilege of being located in Monroe County," commissioner John Lesoine, commented.

Annual Contribution

The check is an annual contribution from the federation in lieu of taxes — they are exempt from taxes as the Boy Scouts is a non-profit organization. The camp is located at Resica Falls on Route 402 about six miles north of Marshalls Creek. It is the only tax exempt organization in Monroe County that makes an annual contribution in lieu of taxes.

With the chest was a letter suggesting the money be distributed with $80 to the county institution, $185 to school and $71 towards township roads.

In other business of the board a letter was received from Buck Hill Falls Co. stating their approval of one dam site and rejection of another on their property. The dams are part of the United States Soil Conservation Service program for flood control.

The site rejected was PC-5 located on Buck Hill Creek between Wildcat Creek and the Golf club.

The site repected was PC-5 on Griscom Creek. The site was turned down by the company for reason of interfering with the golf course after the dam would be completed.

Officers of the company said they would give consideration to another plan if the site could be re-located.

Last Installment

Commissioners voted to grant the last installment of $1,000 allocated to the Monroe County Law Library and also approved county aid to two townships.

Chestnuthill Township was given $6,993, and Tobyhanna Township received $2,250.

The commissioners authorized the county farmer to obtain prices for a new manure spreader. They were informed that the present spreader was old and was near the stage that repairs to keep the machine in operation would warrent the purchasing of a new piece of equipment.

Action will be taken at the next meeting when the prices are submitted for study.

4 Teamsters Held For Court

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Four Teamsters Union members Monday were held for court on charges and countercharges of assault and battery they say resulted from a fist fight over a union election.

They are Larry Thomas, Frank Furbee, Leon Straus and Thomas Makaila.

Thomas and Makaila each swore out a private warrant against the other after the two fought Nov. 8 in a restaurant.

Thomas is recording secretary of Local 596, Garage and Service Station Employes. He is running for president on the same slate as Furbee, who is a candidate for secretary-treasurer.

The election, scheduled for Dec. 18, is to release the local from five years' trusteeship. It was ordered after a court suit by rank-and-filers headed by Furbee.

Thomas told Magistrate John F. Daly that Makaila grabbed him as he was leaving the restaurant, punched him in the face and tried to gouge out his eyes. Daly held Makaila in $300 bail for court.

Later Makaila told Magistrate Samuel Clark Jr., that Thomas came at him with what looked like a knife and that Furbee and Strauss punched him in the back while he grappled with Thomas. Makaila is a member of Teamsters Local 107.

Clark held the three in $300 bail for court.

The firemen reported at approximately 3:20 p.m, and again at 10 p.m. The last time they "wetted down" the entire area with water for approximately 30 minutes, killing the fire.

Chief Philips said there was no damage to property.

Ex-Escapee Goes Berserk In Cell

DONALD Kishpaugh, a 16-year-old boy who escaped from the Monroe County Jail last Tuesday and was captured Thursday went berserk in his cell yesterday, attempting suicide by inflicting superficial razor blade wounds on both wrists.

Monroe County Sheriff Jacob F. Altemose reported that after Kishpaugh was examined by a doctor he was ordered into a straight jacket, handcuffed and placed in the restraining cell.

In less than an hour after being committed to the restraining cell the husky six-foot, one-inch youth snapped free from his straight jacket.

Rips Loose Link

The youth using his 198 pounds to full advantage, ripped loose the link between the handcuffs by continuously beating the link on the radiator, the only furnishing in the cell.

After breaking the link on the handcuffs he smashed a heavy glass window and tore the radiator from the floor and used it as a hammer to knock a hole in the wall approximately one-foot square.

Sheriff Altemose approached the cell and was threatened by Kishpaugh with a brick he had knocked from the wall. Altemose warned the boy and said he was coming in the cell, that he (Kishpaugh) should put the brick down. The Stroudsburg youth obeyed the county official's command.

Kishpaugh was examined yesterday by a physician in the jail and medications were prescribed to keep him calm.

Transfer Order

Monroe County District Attorney James R. Marsh said that an order to commit Kishpaugh to an institution for disturbed young offenders would be presented to President Judge Fred W. Davis for his signature.

The youth will remain in the jail until the order is signed and then will be taken to an institution in Dallas.

Rep. Walter Credited In Texas Swing

REP. FRANCIS E. Walter (D-Easton) has received many praises from the Texas Democratic Committee for his "playing a vital role in swinging the state to President-elect John F. Kennedy."

Congressional leaders in Washington said Walter's talks were impressive for several reasons. First, he is a northern Democrat coming into the state "with no ax to grind or chip on his shoulder.

Second, he is looked upon by the people of Texas as a "great leader in congress" because of his work as chairman of the House Committee of Un - American Activities.

Third, the oilmen look at him as a friend. He is the author of the tideland oil bill that was passed by Congress, and fourth, he was accepted by big business in the Lone Star State because of his position as vice president of the Broad Street Trust Co., in Philadelphia.

Walter was re-elected to his 15th consecutive term to the House of Representatives.

The appearances in Texas were made at the request of House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Texas).

Educational Problem

Education specialists at California's Occidental College recently completed a study of the nation's public schools, and came up with this appalling prediction:

That if the past is a barometer of the future only 55 percent of the pupils now in the fifth grade will be graduated from high school in 1967. The remaining 45 percent will join the ranks of the "drop-outs."

In this same area, Dr. Edward C. McDonagh, head of Southern California University's sociology department, reports a series of studies tending to show that four out of every 10 children of upper middle class homes are incapable of attaining professional careers.

This means there are families which can afford to give their sons and daughters a higher education than the youngsters can absorb. Naturally enough, this is a problem of considerable concern to affluent parents, for it often means fathers can't hand down to sons businesses requiring professional knowledge. The kids just don't have what it takes.

But how shall America use the manpower of this 40 percent? What kind of status-satisfying work can they be trained to do?

Finding the answer to these questions may well be one of the gigantic problems confronting American educators in the 1960s.

'I Think It's Time To Retire Him . . . For Keeps!'

One Billion Americans In 2050?

A current decrease in the nation's baby crop is being assessed in some quarters as bad news for the economy. Business, it is said, has geared its pace to the rising demands created by even more bodies to be clothed, nourished and housed.

The U.S. Public Health Service estimates that the number of American babies born alive in 1960 will be 4,203,000, as compared with 4,282,000 last year. But it does not expect the current drop in births to continue for long because there is no evidence of a trend toward smaller families. In short, another spurt of births is in prospect by the mid-1960's as the "boom babies" of the early postwar years start forming families of their own.

Some population experts frankly welcome even a short respite from the propelled birth rate. They contend the nation needs to catch up with the unfulfilled public needs of its already burgeoning population.

A recent nation-wide survey showed that American wives expected, on the average, a total of between 2.7 and 3.3 children for their families, with 3.0 the most probable number. Only 7 percent of the wives expected six or more children, an indication that the proportion of truly large families will not increase.

What does the "fraction of a child" so dear to the demographer's heart mean in terms of national growth? The Population Reference Bureau estimates that if married women have an average of three children the population of the United States will rise from 180 million in 1960 to about 600 million by the year 2050.

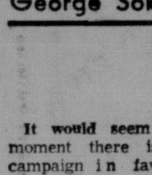

But if the average is 3.3 children, population will reach the billion mark by that time! And it should be remembered that even with the current decrease in the birth rate the nation's population is increasing at the rate of 25 million persons every eight and one-half years.

Bethlehem Globe Times

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Campaign For Hiss

It would seem that at this moment there is a renewed campaign in favor of Alger Hiss. The effort is to show that Hiss has suffered martyrdom and is now living in poverty. The inherent appeal in such an article as appears on this subject in "Esquire" magazine, is for compassion and we are a compassionate people.

"Esquire," by caption and the photographic setting as well as the nature of two articles in juxtaposition, shows how Roy Cohn, who had been one of Hiss' adversaries, has prospered. The titles are interesting: "The Problems of Alger Hiss" as contrasted with "The Pleasure of Roy Cohn."

Hiss is the man of purpose; Cohn the man of pleasure. Why this contrast is made, it is difficult to understand, as Cohn did not benefit from Hiss' miseries nor did Hiss suffer from Cohn's affluence.

Of Hiss it is said:

"At present, Alger Hiss is selling stationery.

"He lives at a water-front address in New York City in a third-floor walk-up, a sad building with a tattered green awning over a vacant store front piled high with empty cardboard cartons, and next door, 'Harry Feldman, Slop Chest. Supplies—Everything for the Sailor.' It looks like the kind of hide-out . . . that Whittaker Chambers would have picked in his darker days. Last Spring the apartment was robbed . . . the total loot was a $25 ring and a $5 pair of cuff links.

"Since last year, he has been separated from his wife, Priscilla."

Of Roy Cohn it says:

"Roy Cohn is thirty-three now . . . Cohn today is a partner in the New York law firm of Saxe, Bacon, and O'Shea, from which he earns $250,000 a year. He is a major stockholder of The Lionel Corporation, maker of toy trains, fuses, and electronic equipment; a subsidiary manufactures sporting goods and another is a leading producer of missile components. He is a one-third owner of Feature Sports, Inc., which promoted, among other fights this past year, both of the Johansson-Patterson heavyweight championship bouts.

"He is a successful investor in the stock market, owns two middlesized restaurants of no particular distinction in Manhattan, and holds oil leases in Texas, New Mexico, and Kentucky . . ." etc., etc.

What does this contrast mean? It means that Alger Hiss has taken his downfall with bitterness and resentment; it means that Roy Cohn, who was smeared because of his association with Senator Joe McCarthy and who accumulated a host of enemies, went to work to achieve a personal success.

One man who felt he was unjustly treated, lives in the past, resents the present and has no future; the other man has gone ahead.

In these articles, Hiss is painted as a Werther and Cohn as a Till Eulenspiegel. It is an interesting contrast but wholly untrue as to Cohn and I presume, not knowing Hiss, that he will one day be released from his miseries by finding a place for himself in which his talents can still be used in his country's interest.

These tales of two men who took divergent paths may be interesting and therefore they justify some magazine notice. But it is not a true contrast because Roy Cohn's success in business has nothing to do with Alger Hiss' failure as a public servant.

Roy Cohn's capabilities are in the fields of law and finance. His father was a distinguished jurist in New York; his grandfather was a banker. He comes by his abilities naturally.

Alger Hiss also is a lawyer and as such has had a brilliant start, but he got caught in the Marxism of the 1930's and went to prison therefor. Cohn avoided such entanglements which apparently shocks "Esquire" which quotes Richard Rovere as follows:

"In all probability, Cohn's anti-Communism was somewhat less of a caprice and an improvistation than McCarthy's, for Cohn was Jewish and from New York, and at about the time he came to man's estate and participated in the Rosenberg prosecution, it seemed terribly important to many Jews not only to disassociate themselves from Jewish Communists, but to demonstrate a zealous and fiery anti-Communism . . ."

Jewish participation in anti-Communist efforts antedates the Rosenberg case. I refer to the work of Isaac Don Levine, Eugene Lyons, Ben Gitlow, Benjamin Stolberg, David Dubinsky, myself and many others. These articles in "Esquire" prove nothing except that some folks like Hiss and some dislike Cohn.

Veterans Guide

Q—I am eighteen years old, the daughter of a veteran who served in the armed forces in peacetime and who died of injuries sustained in maneuvers of an extra-hazardous nature. Doesn't a new law entitle me to training under the War Orphans Education program?

A—Yes. A law passed recently broadened the scope of the War Orphans Education program to include children of deceased veterans of peacetime service. The death of the peacetime veteran parent must have been caused by the actual performance of military or extra-hazardous duty. Eligible children must generally be between 18 and 23 years of age.

Q—I live in an area that has been declared a direct loan area for GI loans. Wasn't this direct loan program of VA recently extended for both World War II and Korea veterans?

A—Yes. VA's direct loan program, which formerly had a deadline of July 25, 1960, was extended by law to July 25, 1962.

Q—I hold a GI insurance policy for $10,000 and want to change the beneficiaries I put down a long time ago. Do I have to tell them I am making the change?

A—No. Your designation of beneficiaries is entirely your own affair and beneficiaries previously named need not be notified if you wish to make a change.

The Pennsylvania Story

Election Impact

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — The election of two weeks ago that saw Democrats carry the Keystone State in a presidential runoff for only the fifth time within the past 100 years can hardly be considered either any sort of "vote of confidence for, or rejection of, the Democratic Lawrence Administration in Pennsylvania.

There are those of course — particularly within Democratic ranks here on Capitol Hill—who would like to think in his direction, and who prefer to assume there is a strong inter-relationship.

Several points are worth noting.

In the first place the Kennedy campaign as conducted in Pennsylvania was based almost exclusively on broad national and international issues — which did not encompass the Lawrence Administration.

Closest the Kennedy campaign came to "localization of campaign issues in this state developed as the Democratic presidential candidate hammered home in the hard-pressed areas the need for area redevelopment legislation, twice passed by a Democratic Congress and vetoed by the Republican Eisenhower Administration.

Even this had no relationship with the Lawrence Administration — other than the fact that Mr. Lawrence and his aides vigorously supported the legislation.

In no sense can it be said that the "prestige" of the Lawrence Administration was "laid on the line" insofar as the presidential campaign was concerned.

In fact even though the campaign could somehow be construed in the vein of a vote of confidence for the Lawrence Administration, negative factors seemingly would be overriding.

For example, in the legislative field within the Keystone State where local contests were tied in with Pennsylvania affairs more than anything else, the administration did not fare to well.

In the State House of Representatives where all 210 seats were up for refilling two weeks ago, administration Democrats increased their control of that chamber by only two votes, climbing from 108 which they held in the 1959 and 1960 sessions, to 110 seats for the upcoming 1961 seession.

Numerically this may seem like a lot of seats — but 106 votes were required to pass legislation, and a margin of four votes in legislative circles is not viewed as anything approaching an "insurance vote."

In the 50-seat Senate where Democrats in 1959 and 1960 held a low-end-of-the-pole tab of 28 to 22, the election two weeks ago increased Democratic seatage from 22 to 25 — not enough to give the administration a lock-and-stock upper hand in a count now standing for 1961 at 25 and 25.

Again, significantly, 26 votes are needed to pass legislation in the upper chamber — and administration Democrats at this point do not have it.

Or looking at the picture in another light — anti-administration Republicans in the election two weeks ago walked off with GOP margins in 52 of the State's 67 counties, again certainly not indicative of any mandate or vote of confidence for the Lawrence Administration.

Most certainly Pennsylvania Democrats carried Pennsylvania in the presidential runoff — by better than 130,000 — but eliminate the 326,000 majority turned in by one county, Philadelphia (or for that matter less than half of the Philadelphia majority) and it isn't difficult to see that Democrats would not have carried Pennsylvania.

Unquestionably it is improper to refer to the past election as any sort of a vote of confidence in the Lawrence Administration — as it is equally improper to refer to the outcome as any vote of "non-confidence." Neither was it in the cards Nov. 8.

Mirror of Time

—by J. D. Shafer

10 Years Ago

A Liberty Street factory in Roseto was totally destroyed by fire. Firemen estimated the loss at $30,000. There were no injuries.

Two Philadelphians were seriously injured in an auto accident about six miles south of Mount Pocono when the car they were riding in slid on icy pavement and struck two other cars and several guard rails. All three cars were estimated by police as total losses.

Many members of Company "G," stationed in Camp Attenury, Ind., were invited to private home for hTanksgiving dinner but failed to show up at the home.

Firemen in Reading saved the life of a 96-year-old man from a fire in his apartment. The fire routed more than 250 people in the area of the fire, which turned out to be a mattress that had caught fire from a lighted cigarette.

20 Years Ago

The St. Charles Hotel and the Roth Store, both in Gouldsboro, were robbed. A total of $40 in cash, a radio, 20 cartons of cigarettes and 22 quarts were taken from both places.

Representative Leo Achterman was listed as one of the possible men to be named as majority leader in the General Assembly.

A 65-year-old resident of Pocono Summit was hit by a car as he walked along Route 490 near Pocono Summit.

Remember in 1920 when victory medals were being distributed in Monroe County to all World War I veterans?

Off The Record

Stroudsburg High will have one faithful supporter when they meet arch-rival East Stroudsburg Thursday morning at the Cavaliers lair.

He is Dr. John P. Lim, school director and team physician of the Mountaineers.

Dr. Lim, naturally knows the physical aspects of the squad which has had more than its share of injuries this year and has been close to the personnel, both in his capacity as a doctor and a friend.

The other day Dr. Lim said, "with no support under the most adverse, and at times, frightening conditions beyond their control the Stroud Union football team has continued to play their hearts out.

"I know the team has the courage, desire, determination and will to win.

"I wholeheartedly back them to win on Thanksgiving Day.

Win, lose or draw I am proud of them and am proud to be associated with them."

If any one person close to the scene has a right to his expert advice then Dr. Lim is that one individual.

While we are on the subject of football and this is the week when all thoughts turn to the grid sport, two former area coaches will match wits Thanksgiving Day at Port Jervis. Facing each other on the opposite sides of the field will be John Whitehead and Joe Vigilione.

John, is the former Stroud Union mentor, who guided Middletown High to its best season in 10 years (5-1-1). Joe has held head coach sway at Port Jervis the past four years. This year his club is 2-4 on the season.

The Allen-Scott Report

Castro May Attack Base

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — For the first time, there are definite indications that Premier Fidel Castro actually intends to launch an armed attack on the U. S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay.

For this purpose, the Soviet-aligned Cuban Dictator has—

Obtained a startlingly large amount of Communist weapons and munitions, chiefly from Czechoslovakia. Included are numerous MIG interceptors, tanks, self-propelled guns and thousands of automatic weapons. Cuba is now one of the most heavily armed countries in all of Latin America.

Secretly set up a special combat force of some 3,800 foreign Communist officers and troops, among them Red Chinese, who were brought to Cuba in the guise of "technicians."

Put in command of the contemplated assault on Guantanamo a Russian-trained Spanish Communist — General Alberto Bayo, who was active in the bloody Spanish civil war in the late 1930s.

Bayo's headquarters are in Oriente Province, about 60 miles from the U. S. base. Most of his staff is Russian.

This menacing build-up against Guantanamo was an important factor in President Eisenhower's decision to establish a powerful naval patrol in the Caribbean. These carriers and destroyers not only will guard against any Castro aggression in Central America, but also be immediately available for an attack on Guantanamo.

Both Naval Intelligence and the Central Intelligence Agency are now convinced that is definitely contemplated by Castro and the Communist clique ruling Cuba.

Previously these authorities were inclined to accept Castro's public statements that armed force would not be used to evict the U. S. from Guantanamo. But this view has been revised with the appearance of General Bayo, the establishment of his Red-staffed Otiente headquarters, and the secret combat force of foreign Communist mercenaries.

President Eisenhower and Secretary Herter, in their conference in Augusta last week, discussed a Central Intelligence report warning that Castro now has both the "intention and capability" of assaulting Guantanamo.

This conclusion was publicly voiced by Assistant Secretary Thomas Mann in a little-noticed speech on November 9 at Baylor University, Waco, Texas. He is the new head of Inter-American Affairs, replacing Roy Rubottom, who was made Ambassador to Argentina.

"None of us at home or abroad should under-estimate this military danger," said Mann. "Large quantities of arms are being accumulated in Cuba. Hundreds of Russian, Czechoslovakia and Red Chinese 'technicians' have been imported. They speak of 'invasion' of Cuba, but what they really intend is to divert attention from their own aggression plans. They claim to seek peace, while they promote class hatred and violence at home and conflict and turmoil abroad."

What Castro's Got — Central Intelligence's special report on Cuba has also been submitted to President-elect Kennedy.

The detailed estimate of Castro's extraordinary military build-up were compiled jointly by CIA and Naval Intelligence. Publishable highlights of their findings on Castro's startling military build-up from Communist sources are as follows:

Air Force — 225 combat planes of all types, including 68 MIG-17s and 8 MIG-15s, obtained from Czechoslovakia. Also 80 conventional bombers, 24 of them U. S. World War II B-25s. The airforce has a strength of around 4,000; more than 800 from Czechoslovakia, Red China and other Iron Curtain countries.

Army — Upwards of 25,000 with around 1,500 foreign Communist officers and non-coms. In addition, a special combat force of 3,800 Iron Curtain mercenaries are in closely-guarded bivouacs in Oriente Province.

Peoples Militia — Now about 225,000 and being steadily expanded to upwards of 300,000 by next July. It is equipped with Communist-supplied World War II rifles, automatic weapons, bazookas and mortars.

Navy — Some 60 small vessels, none as large as a destroyer. Strength around 2,500. This meager and over-aged naval force is one of Castro's major military weaknesses. It definitely prevents him from supporting Caribbean aggressions with tanks and other heavy weapons.

However, thanks to his Communist arms suppliers, the bearded Cuban dictator now has a large arsenal of tanks and other powerful offensive weapons, as follows:

160 Russian tanks, ranging from 30 to 60 tons.

200 self-propelled guns from 75mm to 120mm.

250 armored mounting guns from 30mm to 105mm, including 50 with 40mm anti-aircraft guns.

125 mortars of 105mm to 120mm caliber, and 350 smaller mortars.

35 mobile 8-inch rocket launchers.

3,000 machineguns.

8,000 automatic weapons of various types of world War II vintage.

4,000 bazookas.

2,000 flame throwers.

175,000 rifles.

10,000,000 rounds of ammunition of all types.

5,000 hand granades.

Cuban Flashes — Secretary Herter will seek a plenary session of the Organization of American States to consider Castro's intensifying threat to other Latin American countries. Herter will ask this meeting to be held in Washington early in December. The U. S. will back up its charges against Castro with detailed reports on the large amounts of arms he is getting from the Reds and captured documents of his aggression plans.

A Cuban military mission is now in Russia seeking more weapons, particularly rocket and naval vessels. Raul Castro, brother of Fidel and commander of the armed forces, is telling associates he may fly to Moscow to join these discussions.

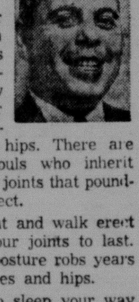

Under a 1903 treaty, renewed in May 1934, the U. S. pays $3,386.25 monthly rent for the Guantanamo Base. Under the revised agreement, the U. S. can occupy this military installation until both countries change the terms.

Inside You And Yours

Arthritis Aid

By Burton H. Fern, M. D.

Can anything help arthritis? The kind that sneaks up on you, not the arthritis that explodes with red inflammation!

Definately, yes!

Years of wear and tear can grind arthritis — osteoarthritis — into any joint. Your weight crushes knees and hips. There are some lucky souls who inherit tough, leathery joints that pounding doesn't affect.

Stand straight and walk erect if you want your joints to last. That crooked posture robs years from tired knees and hips.

You can also sleep your way to better knees. Eight horizontal hours rests any tired joint. And old joints, like people, enjoy short daytime rest periods. Frequent short strolls also can pour new life into you and your joints.

Rub away those aches and pains with gentle massage. But avoid heavy hands which crumble old bone into more new dust.

Watch Your Diet!

Diet away your arthritis. Extra pounds pound knees and hips all the harder. The less you eat, the less weight to eat away your joints!

Use heat to cool down pain—especially moist heat which soaks in best. Try a wet-towel sandwich!

Wrap a warm, soaking towel around the joint and cover with several thicknesses of dry towel. Heating pads and lamps — even ordinary 100 or 200 watt sandwich warm for hours.

See your doctor! He may want to oil that rusty joint with cortisone-like medicine. One lubrication may relieve your pain for months.

Tension and aching joints often go steady. Listen:

Faith Cure

He hadn't injected a single drop of medicine! Faith had relaxed a hundred minds to soothe a hundred joints. Tension can tighten muscles into painful spasm which often aches more than the arthritis.

When arthritis is dragging you down, light-hearted spirits become life jackets which keep your head above water. They can buoy you up until you're walking on air.

Tranquilizing prescriptions may also help you ride out emotional storms which pound new pain into weatherbeaten joints.

Aspirin is still the best pain-reliever for aching arthritis.

Yes, you can help your arthritis! Any bonehead who disagrees doesn't have a leg to stand on!

Mental Health Offers Aid

A THREE-YEAR nation wide survey of mental health conditions and problems brought out some interesting observations. The investigators found that nearly one in every four adults said, in effect, that at some time in his life he had felt sufficiently troubled to need help.

Nine out of every 100 persons interviewed said they thought they could have used some help but they would not go for it. But when the replies were broken down they included such responses as 'didn't know how to go about it,' 'didn't know what to do,' 'didn't know where to go.' Another group indicated that they felt shame or hesitancy in seeking help.

Within Same Area

These problems in seeking help all came within the same area of mental health. Were it a physical ailment which needed help, there would have been no hesitancy in going to see a doctor.

In this area the Monroe County Mental Health Association is set up and equipped to give this kind of help. The office of the Association is open from 10 a.m. to 12 noon daily.

Robert C. Oliver, of the Pennsylvania Mental Health Association, a psychologist and social worker is at the office twice a month. An appointment can be scheduled by calling the office. The address is 618 Main St., Stroudsburg, while phone number is HA 1-1299.

The Monroe County Mental Health Association is one of the 12 member agencies of the Monroe County Community Chest and Council.

James McGonigle — "Cable King"

Mt. Pocono Man Retires From Depot

TOBYHANNA Signal Depot's "Cable King" has retired at age 67. He is James McGonigle, of Mt. Pocono, who for 20 years has been chief cable maker for the Army Signal Corps.

Hired as a laborer at the Brooklyn, N. Y., Army Base in April 1940, he was assigned to a cable shop just being formed. Three months later, when his foreman suddenly died, McGonigle found himself in charge of the tiny pre-World War II operation.

After Pearl Harbor, to take care of the Army's surging need for all types of special cables, the shop was vastly expanded and placed on a three-shift basis.

McGonigle estimates he and his men turned out more than 2,000 different types of cables during the war. They ranged in length from a few inches to assemblies of several miles.

In World War I he served in the Army and went to France with the 316th Field Remount Squadron, helping to break in horses for the artillery.

Without any formal training, McGonigle was able to adapt himself to the highly technical work of the Signal Corps. Usually he had blueprints to go on, but often his only instructions were verbal. He earned the name "Cable King" early when the engineers learned they could depend on him to fill their requirements exactly.

Four Depots

McGonigle served at four signal depots. From the Brooklyn Army Base he transferred to the Philadelphia Signal Depot in 1941, to the Baltimore Signal Depot in 1947, and to Tobyhanna in 1954. Always he continued in his job as chief cable maker.

McGonigle and his wife, the former Claire Friebe, will make their home near their two married sons in Williamstown, Mass.

Dear Abby

Be Subtle, Dearie

Dear Abby: If a girl has had quite a lot of experience with kissing and a fellow goes to kiss her, is she better off pretending she doesn't know what it's all about? Or should she just use what she doesn't know knows and let him think the worst? Please answer before Saturday night.

"LITTLE ACTRESS"

Dear "Actress": Do what comes naturally— but don't put on your best performance. (What will you do for an encore?)

* * *

Dear Abby: On the first of September my husband's brother's son came to stay with us. He is attending college near by. His parents said they would pay us for his keep. So far all they sent was ten dollars for the first month and five dollars for the second.

Tell me, do you think this is enough for the boy's room, board and laundry? I've asked my husband to write to his brother but he doesn't want to appear money-hungry. Would it look bad for me to write?

The boy is 18 and, bless his heart, he eats like a lumberjack. By the way, they have more money than we do.

UNDERPAID

Dear Underpaid: You should have had a clear-cut financial arrangement with the boy's parents beforehand. Fifteen dollars for two months hardly covers the milk bill for an 18-year-old boy. If you don't write, you're wrong.

* * *

Dear Abby: My child made a low grade on a test at school and the teacher wrote across his paper — "This is a Disgrace!" Abby, I want to ask you, is it a disgrace to get a low grade? Do you suppose the teacher knows the meaning of the word "Disgrace?"

My child is deeply hurt. To the extent of not wanting to continue school. I am heartsick. I've talked with some people about it and they said I should report her to the principal. But I'm afraid he will call the teacher on the carpet and she will be harder on my child.

How should we handle th's problem?

HURT PARENTS

Dear Hurt: See the teacher. Teachers are only human, and perhaps she hurriedly wrote those words not realizing how deeply hurt the child would be. She might appreciate your going directly to her instead of "reporting" her to the principal, and would be more thoughtful in the future.

* * *

Dear Abby: In regard to the 14-year-old "Cinderella" who complained about having to be in by midnight: We are a group of GI's between the ages of 18 and 55, and we are required to be in bed for bed check by 12:15 a.m. If we are not there, we are subject to court martial. So tell Cinderella to put that in her glass slipper and dance on it.

RESTRICTED
(TEAU, KOREA)

Confidential to "Waiting to be Paid:" Take a lesson from my Uncle Henry, who was a credit manager. He sent out a letter saying, "We have done more for you than your mother. She carried you for nine months — we've carried you for twelve. Please remit."

Dauphin Judge Plans To Retire

HARRISBURG (AP) — Judge Karl E. Richards confirmed Monday he will retire next Jan. 2, paving the way for the possible appointment of a Democrat to the all-Republican Dauphin County Court.

"It's time for me to make way for a younger judge," Richards said in making his announcement. He will be 74 in January. He has been judge of the Orphans Court since 1937. His present term extends to January, 1968.

The Harrisburg Sunday Patriot-News reported that Patrick E. Kerwin of Lykens, chairman of the State Liquor Control Board, reportedly is the man Gov. Lawrence will name to fill the vacancy.

The appointee will have to run for election next November.

Seize Shipment From Matamoras

HARTFORD, Conn., (AP) — The U. S. Attorney's office here has ordered the seizing of a quantity of cosmetics shipped to Connecticut from Kolmar Cosmetics Specialties, Inc., of Matamoras, Pa.

U. S. Atty. Harry W. Hulgren Jr. said yesterday the cosmetics do not contain the ingredients nor accomplish the results advertised by the company.

They are harmless but mislabeled, he said. The shipment comprises skin powder, cold cream and lipstick.

9 Known Dead In Avalanche

TOKYO (AP)—Search parties recovered the bodies of four more university students from the snow-covered slopes of Mt. Fuji yesterday, bringing the known death toll of Saturday's avalanche to nine. One youth was still missing and feared lost. Two girls were among the dead.

About 400 police, students, local alpine clubs and a company of Japanese troops took part in the search.

Fifty-five students on a climbing expedition had been caught by the shallow but powerful avalanche.

Only 12 escaped unhurt. Rescuers found 33 students injured.

U. S. Clerk Shot By Cuban Officer

HAVANA (AP)—A Cuban army captain in civilian clothes shot and seriously wounded a young U. S. Embassy clerk last night after a nightclub argument about the authenticity of an American $5 bill.

Cuban police said Sunday the clerk, Wayne Henderson, 22, of Pasadena, Calif., had refused to pay his check in Cuban pesos and called them "Communist money."

Just Between Us — —

Sitting down on a chair that's far lower than it looked, stepping up a step that isn't there, lifting something that looks heavy but isn't, or leaning against a door that isn't latched: all lead to a surprising and not especially agreeable sensation.

Somehow holidays catch me much the same way. One day I'm straining every nerve trying to keep up with the hectic rush of events — and then there's nothing going on at all — not for printing, that is.

The social calendar waxes so fat that a single day takes up a half column and then without warning it dwindles away to nothing. Which doesn't mean that holidays aren't among the most social times of the year, but the parties are private, not public, in homes, not club rooms, family not fraternal.

You'd think after all these years that I'd get over being surprised but I'm the trusting sort—or at least the let's-not-cross-our-bridges kind, and here I am looking pained and surprised again. Part of my grievance, of course, comes from the very nature of a newspaper.

Since we don't publish on the holiday itself, the day off comes the day before a holiday. Here we are all ready to make merry and everybody else is up to their necks in last-minute preparations for company, with no time to waste on us.

Houses, already spick and span, need the final touches of flowers and over-flowing cornucopias, refrigerators already bulging with raw material for the feast have to be re-arranged with preliminary preparations. And Wednesday night, everybody's home watching out the window for the kids to arrive from college, the married children to come home with the baby, Grandma and Granddad to come in.

But Thursday with the excitement of the game and the surfeit of the dinner safely past and everybody ready to relax and be sociable, we're back at work in an office where the phone doesn't ring and there isn't any mail, and nobody knows we're alive.

Oh well, maybe if I feel sorry enough for us now I can get it all out of the way by Thursday, and relax in the thought that at least somebody else has to do the dishes from my own Thanksgiving dinner.

THANKSGIVING Cornucopias of wafer dough filled with whipped maple cream overflow Thanksgiving bounty.

Sweets For The Holiday Table Add Special Flavor

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
(AP Food Editor)

Does your family, like ours, appreciate a lagniappe — a gracious extra — among traditional Thanksgiving desserts?

If so, plan to concoct a sweet trifle that may be brought out as a pleasant surprise hours after the pumpkin and mince pies have been devoured. No matter how the diners around our holiday table moan that they "can't eat another thing" the extras are always consumed. One batch of hearty eating seems to breed a desire for more.

The lagniappe also has a practical use. Whether dinner is at noon or between six and seven o'clock, there are often relatives and friends dropping in during the afternoon or evening. Then the extra dessert is perfect to serve with a fresh batch of tea or coffee.

So this year what is the offering to be? We vote for Maple Cream Cornucopias, and here's the how and why of this suggestion.

For years we've been using the same wafer recipe — one calling for flour, butter and blended maple syrup—that may be familiar to you. These we rolled in the traditional tube shape. But recently we had a bright idea that worked out just the way we dreamed it would. We shaped the wafers into cornucopias. Then reminded of the cone-shaped wafers lusciously filled with whipped cream, beloved by Europeans, we gave our cornucopias the same treatment.

These trifles are rich, as befits a holiday dessert. But for all their lavish taste they are pleasantly inexpensive.

Maple Cream Cornucopias

½ cup blended maple syrup
¼ cup butter
½ cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
Maple Cream

Stir together syrup and butter in saucepan over high heat; bring to a boil and boil hard ½ minute. Remove from heat; add flour and salt and stir until smooth. Drop level tablespoons, three inches apart, on greased cookie sheet. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven nine minutes. Remove from oven and cool about one minute. With wide spatula or pancake turner remove a wafer and quickly lap over two edges to form cornucopia shape; with fingers press lapped edges lightly together. Quickly shape remaining wafers, one at a time, the same way (if any wafers harden before they are rolled, return to oven for a few seconds). Lightly spoon Maple Cream into cornucopias without packing down; wrap individually for freezing and place in freezer at once. Serve without defrosting as finger food. Makes 12.

Maple Cream: Beat together one cup heavy cream, ¼ cup blended maple syrup and a pinch of salt until just stiff.

Note: If you have no freezer, make and shape the wafers; store in a tightly covered container. At serving time fill with Maple Cream.

Deer Road Kill Seen Real Heavy

CARL C. Stainbrook, Supervisor of the Northeast Division, Pennsylvania Game Commission, reports that the highway kill of deer has been unusually heavy in some parts of the state this year.

During the past two weeks, District Game Protector Edward Gdosky has had 30 deer killed by automobiles in his district which covers Luzerne County west of the Susquehanna River and in the Red Rock area. Gdosky reports the weekend of November 5, 9 deer were killed —3 bucks and 6 does. On November 11, 7 legal bucks were killed and on November 15, 6 deer were killed—2 legal bucks and 4 does.

On November 10, District Game Protector Robert Nolfe, Lower Luzerne County, reported 6 deer killed and on November 15, 3 bucks were killed. On November 1, District Game Protector John Spencer, Mt. Pocono, had 7 killed in one night.

During the month of October, 104 male deer and 130 female deer and 8 bear had been killed by automobiles in northeastern Pennsylvania. It has been a constant nightly call to pick up highway killed big game to prevent further accidents. The November highway kill will no doubt be larger with the rutting season at its peak and the deer moving across over highways. Motorists are requested to be on the lookout to prevent a serious accident.

American thoroughbred breeding farms cover a total area three times the size of Rhode Island. Their stock is valued at 65 million dollars.

TUESDAY, NOV. 22, 1960

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Mars indicates an energizing, progressive period for your interests and special talents if you take special care. There are irritating influences around so be astute, tactful, cheerful.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Friendly but not too strong rays today. Start your schedule knowing what you are doing, what to hold back and the right tempo to keep. No need to fail in anything; push ahead steadily.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Mildly favorable rays since yesterday's good Mercury aspect. However, day stresses sensible caution, especially if signing contracts, any important papers, also in investments.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Self-restraint, conscientious fore-thought and planning urged to help evaluate projects and get right channel in which to work. Difficult projects, government matters, the military favored.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Sun's position emphasizes firmness in what you know to be right but not stubbornness nor an unbending attitude. Many gifts are yours, use them wisely for your own advancement.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) —Not a spectacular day but one that will yield in good measure to the effort you expend. Be cautious signing your name to documents, promises, etc. Be patient with study, experiments.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Similar to Taurus now. You can make improvements generally and by clever management can stem any unpleasant action or unhelpful tactics by others. Be your usual sensible self and gain.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Mars' position now urges extra patience and forbearance to offset any hindering tendencies that might oppose. A time of challenge, to test your ingenuity and perseverance. Meet it!

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — More favorable than otherwise but you will need to be careful in unknown activities, undertaking new, not too familiar projects. Need not be a troublesome day, make it cheerful.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Neither stimulating, favorable nor is it wholly unprogressive. You will have to choose your tasks and know how to handle them and with what speed. Be accurate, conscientious.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Mostly up to you and your management now what returns will be. Have no fear as you tackle day and its problems and duties. Apply common sense and your knowledge, some gains likely.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — May be surprising day with hidden advantages. Worth striving for openings. Study your schedule and know what to do first. Take matters in order of their importance.

YOU BORN TODAY: Sagittarius and Jupiter are your natal planets. Sincere, pleasant disposition, wise and discreet in speech. Usually you folks are of fine bearing and show strength, dignity. Active, intelligent, objective in thought, action. Sagittarians are capable in all lines of endeavor and will work faithfully to achieve and be successful. Are zealous, frank, outspoken. Seldom does a Sagittarian succumb to flattery or idle chatter. Important that you be consistent in effort. Make wonderful physicians, surgeons, explorers. Don't run down health by overwork. Birthdate: George Eliot (Mary Ann Evans); 19th century English novelist; George Gissing, 19th century English novelist.

Applications For Watersheds

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Soil Conservation Commission Monday received applications for federal assistance for planning and building small watershed improvements in Columbia, Clinton and Centre counties.

One application covered the 17,141-acre watershed of Hemlock Creek in Columbia County and the other was for 121,600 acres of the watershed of Fishing Creek in Clinton and Centre counties.

The commissioners and soil conservation districts of the three counties supported the applications.

The objective of the project in Columbia County is to reduce flooding in West Bloomsburg.

In other areas, problems include siltation of streams, lack of water storage and flood damage to small towns and villages, as well as agricultural conservation problems.

Hemlock Creek is a tributary of Fishing Creek. The lower limit of the watershed is at Bloomsburg.

Made The Difference

Big Improvement In Cavalier Line Noted

By CURT PRINS
Sports Editor

EAST STROUDSBURG High School's football season has been dictated by the Cavalier line.

Described by Cavalier coach Jack Kist as big but slow at the beginning of the year, the line has improved its speed tremendously.

On the days the line charged both offensively and defensively, East Stroudsburg produced an effective attack but in games when the line rested on its heels, it was tough sledding for the Cavaliers.

It wasn't until the Port Jervis game that Kist really expressed pleasure with the speed of his line. "It was the first game we saw heads popping across the line as soon as the ball was snapped," says Kist.

But it was a week later at Nazareth that the Cavalier line reached its peak. It held the Blue Eagles to seven points, something that powerful Northampton could not accomplish. Bangor was the only other team to limit the Eagles to a single touchdown.

Although Hellertown managed only 14 points against East Stroudsburg the Cavalier line could not contain the Panthers until the second half, Parkland also had an easy time with the East Stroudsburg line.

The line is anchored by two good defensive ends who are tough on sweeps, Earl Palmer and Harry Van Vliet. Although neither boy is a heavyweight, they can still get the job done. John Sandstrom, Kist's top end, was injured at mid season and will not play Thursday.

Vince Patella and Bud Stann handle the tackle spots. Patella is probably the Cavaliers' best interior lineman. Offensively he is a good blocker and backing the line on defense he has enough speed to cover a wide range.

Holds Promise

Stann, a 265-pounder, has little movement to the sides but can take care of anything that comes straight ahead. A sophomore and only 16 years old, Stann is far from his peak as a football player and with more aggressiveness could be a first class college prospect.

The Cavalier guards are Mike Boushell and Earl Metzgar both underrated players. Metzgar is one of the leaders in individual tackles on the club and Boushell is a good offensive performer. Hank Harris may be a starting guard Thursday.

The center spot has bothered Kist all year, although Jack Vineyard and Bob Deiter helped the situation near the end of the season.

Dave Harmon switched to center for the Hellertown game turned in an excellent job but when fullback Harold (Mach 2) Myers was injured, Harmon was returned to his backfield post.

The backfield will be hurt by the absence of quarterback Jack Fellman, who will see only limited action because of a twisted ankle.

Fellman is a good passer and ball handler and gives the club a fourth running back. He gained 80 yards in the Port Jervis game, running mostly on belly series plays.

Fellman will be replaced by sophomore Jack Van Horn, who guided the club against Nazareth two weeks ago. Before the Nazareth game, Van Horn had been used only sparingly and had played on Monday's with the junior varsity.

Van Horn does not have the Fellman tools but showed that he can do the job in his Nazareth debut.

Brian Farris and Jim Steele will work at halfbacks with Bill Bonser also seeing action.

Farris is a threat anytime he gets a block in the line. Once he gets into the defensive secondary, he is hard to stop. A good punt and kickoff return man, Farris is also a defensive standout.

Overlooked

Steele, has been overshadowed by both Myers and Farris but cannot be overlooked by the defense. Steele is a good pass receiver and can get his share of rushing yardage. Bonser can work from either side and turned in a good performance against Hellertown, when he replaced Myers.

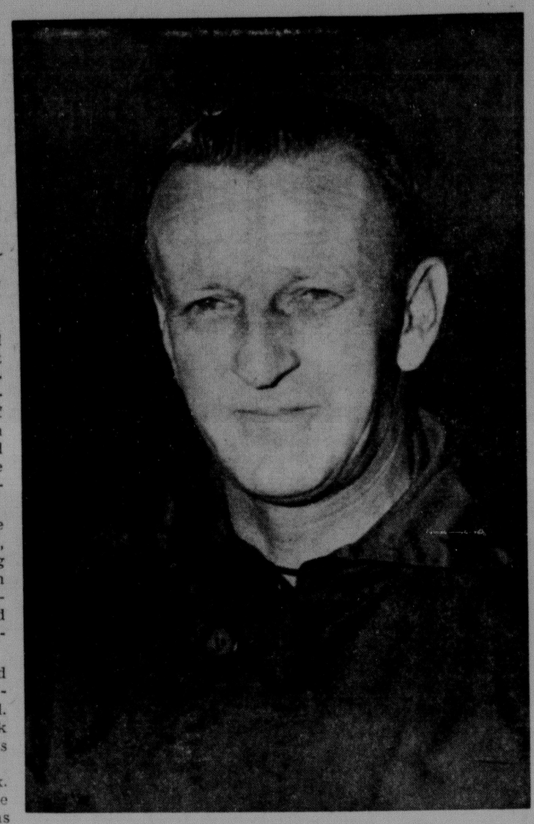

Myers, who is probably the most explosive back in the area, leads the Cavaliers in scoring with 55 points and also in ground gaining. He is particularly effective on punt and kickoff returns. He will probably be rested on defense.

The Cavaliers have a good kicking game, even with Fellman, their top punter sidelined. Farris handled the punting task last week and averaged 36 yards a boot.

Patella does the kickoff work. He has the power to put the ball in the end zone but has not been consistent.

Fellman handled the extra-points and last week with their PAT man out of action the Cavaliers passed for their conversion.

If the game is close Fellman's PAT absences may be felt.

LA Franchise Okay Is Expected Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Despite the storm signals raised by Commissioner Ford Frick and the opposition of Dodger owner Walter O'Malley, the American League Monday planned to formally approve a franchise in Los Angeles at its meeting here Tuesday.

President Joe Cronin, who arrived in New York a day ahead of schedule, said his beleaguered American League intends going through with its plan to allocate 56 big league players — at $75,000 a man — to the new ninth and tenth clubs immediately after the owners of the Los Angeles club have been established.

A franchise for the new team in Washington, left vacant when the Senators moved to Minneapolis-St. Paul, was awarded a 10-man syndicate headed by Elwood Quesada, head of the Federal Aviation Agency, last week.

Dell Webb, co-owner of the New York Yankees, was dispatched to Los Angeles last Friday to contact O'Malley and negotiate a settlement for the $450,000 he reportedly spent in moving his club to the West Coast three years ago.

Before meeting with Webb, O'Malley made it plain that the least important of the conditions would be compensation to the Dodgers by the new American League entry.

O'Malley said he is not opposed to an American League club moving into his area, but feels there should be no move in 1961, the American League's target date.

"I am opposed to another club here in 1961 because I do not want sharing of the crowded schedule in the Coliseum," he said.

Major league law now states that one league cannot move into the other league's territory without unanimous consent by both leagues. The American League has proposed an amendment to change that ruling.

Commissioner Ford Frick has declared he will cast a tie-breaking vote in favor of the American League, in the event of a deadlock over an amendment, only if the Americans made a "fair and equitable" settlement with O'Malley.

Poc. Archery Meeting Set For Tonight

Nomination and election of officers for the ensuing year will head the order of business. All voting members are urged to attend.

Also slated for the evening's program will be a report on the Tri-County Conference Tournament for 1961, Northeast Regional report and the proposed schedule of events for the 1961 season.

Boston Center Punches Krebs

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Russell, all-star center of the Boston Celtics, was fined $100 Thursday by President Maurice Podoloff of the National Basketball Association for a run-in with Jim Krebs of the Los Angeles Lakers Nov. 12.

Russell, according to Referee Jim Duffy's report, "flagrantly fouled Krebs, knocking him unconscious and causing a serious laceration of the lip." According to accounts of the game, played at Providence, Russell hit Krebs with a left-hand punch.

Pete Dawkins Wins Rugby Title

OXFORD, England (AP)—Pete Dawkins, former Army football All-America, Monday won his second Rugby Union "Blue" for Oxford University.

The 22-year-old West Point graduate startled the British by winning a place on Oxford's team last season after playing the English game for only 10 weeks.

Now he's been picked again for the annual match against Cambridge at Twickenham, the home of British Rugby, on Dec. 6.

A "Blue" is awarded to students who gain places in sports events between Oxford and Cambridge.

Loftus Named To Jockeys Hall Of Fame

BALTIMORE (AP) — Johnny Loftus, rider of the first triple crown winner, was voted Monday into the Jockeys Hall of Fame at Pimlico.

Loftus rode Sir Barton to victories in the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes in 1919.

Loftus, a native of Chicago, also was one of the jockeys to ride Man O'War. He rode from 1909 to 1919 and had 509 winners out of 2,092 mounts.

Aussie Coach Warns Swimmers

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Australian swimmers must match the "ferocious determination" of their American rivals if they are to regain their superiority at the 1964 Tokyo Olympics, Australian Coach Harry Gallagher said Monday.

He was commenting on the Australian failure at the Rome games.

Hansen AL's Top Rookie

FT. KNOX, Ky. (AP)—Pvt. Ron Hansen tripped and almost fell on the parade ground Monday after learning he had been picked as the American League's rookie of the year for 1960.

"I can't believe it. . .unbelievable," said the 22-year-old shortstop for the Baltimore Orioles, dropping out of the close order drill formation.

Hansen, whose bat and glove work helped catapult the Orioles from sixth place to second in one year, collected 22 of 24 votes from a special committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America. The other two were split between his teammates, first baseman Jim Gentile and pitcher Chuck Estrada.

"I'm so surprised at this, there is nothing to say. This is something every ball player dreams of but never believes will happen."

Hansen won't be released from the Army until April 15, 1961, when he goes into the reserves.

Gem City Bowl This Thursday

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—The third annual Gem City Bowl football game will be played Thanksgiving morning in Erie Academy Stadium.

Squads will be made up of outstanding seniors from the Big Ten, the Mid-American Conference, Pennsylvania State Conference, Mid-Atlantic Conference and players from independent schools east of the Mississippi River.

Gophers First In Tight Race

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

MINNESOTA'S once-beaten Gophers regained first place Monday in the Associated Press' weekly football poll in a close battle with Iowa and Mississippi.

Missouri, which had taken over the No. 1 spot a week ago after Minnesota was upset by Purdue, fell all the way to fifth place following its first loss, to Kansas.

The balloting was so close that the national championship which will be based on next week's final vote remained in doubt.

Minnesota received 424½ points, Iowa 417½, and Mississippi 398.

While Minnesota and Iowa have finished their regular season as co-champs of the Big Ten, Mississippi has a final game with Mississippi State Saturday after an open date last week.

Iowa received the most first place votes, 17½, with Minnesota getting 13½. One of the 48 selectors couldn't pick between the two, giving each half a first place vote. Mississippi accounted for 13 first place ballots.

The difference was in second and third place votes, where Minnesota held a slight edge over Iowa.

Huskies Fourth

During the regular season, Iowa lost only to Minnesota, 27-10. Minnesota was beaten only by Purdue, 23-14. Iowa was No. 2 and Minnesota No. 4 last week. Then Minnesota ended its season by beating Wisconsin 27-7, and Iowa blanked Notre Dame 28-0.

The University of Washington, the Big Five Conference champion and host team in the Rose Bowl Jan. 2, moved up from fifth to fourth place. Washington had a scare Saturday before edging Washington State 8-7.

Missouri's skid followed its 23-7 defeat by Kansas Saturday. The Kansas victory moved the Jayhawks into the No. 10 spot. Duke, No. 6 a week ago, dropped out of the top 10 after dropping a 7-6 decision to North Carolina. The Blue Devils meet UCLA Dec. 3.

Arkansas, which ended its regular season by trimming Texas Tech 34-6, advanced from No. 7 to sixth place. Navy, idle and awaiting its big service clash Saturday with Army, jumped a notch from eighth to seventh.

Auburn Eighth

Auburn, ninth a week ago, whipped Florida State 57-21, and took over eighth. Auburn meets Alabama Saturday. Ohio State, 10th a week ago, beat Michigan 7-0 and took over ninth.

The leaders, with first place votes, season won-lost-tied records in parentheses (points figured on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis):

1.	Minnesota (13½) (8-1)	424½
2.	Iowa (17½) (8-1)	417½
3.	Mississippi (13) (8-0-1)	398

Scheffing Named As Tiger Manager

By JERRY GREEN

DETROIT (AP)—Bob Scheffing, an ex-catcher with a reputation for handling young players, Monday was hired to manage the Detroit Tigers and restore vigor to the ailing club.

The 45-year-old former pilot of the Chicago Cubs got a two-year contract at an estimated yearly salary of $35,000.

The veteran National Leaguer received the job after a seven-week search by the Tigers for a successor to Joe Gordon, who quit Oct. 3, one day after the end of the 1960 season.

"We hired Bob for two reasons," said John Fetzer, Tiger president. "He came about as highly recommended as any manager could be. Everyone we spoke to has a high regard for him.

"And he's considered a fine developer of young talent. I'm sure he's the man who can get the job done for us."

Scheffing, the Tigers' choice after Casey Stengel turned down the job, commented cautiously: "I don't feel I'm qualified to talk about the Tigers' problems right now," he said. "All I know is that they have them.

Scheffing, a St. Louis native, flew here Sunday night from the Scottsdale, Ariz., home for the news conference announcement of his signing.

The new manager faces an uphill chore in returning the Tigers to prominence in the American League. The club hasn't had a contender since 1950 and has finished as high as fourth only twice in the last 10 seasons. Detroit hasn't won a pennant since 1945.

Jersey Kart Driver Snaps Own Record

BYRNE Sciotiano, kart driver from Garfield, N.J., broke his own record for the quarter mile course at the Pocono Kart Kourse, East Stroudsburg going the distance in 28.7 seconds. His old record was 29 seconds.

Sciotiano in breaking his record also won first place in the A-super and B-modified feature event Sunday. Running in second place was Larry Micholas of Hasbrouck Heights, N.J.

In the first place position of the A-modified and bushing feature it was Herman Esselman of Milansville, and James Dolan of Fair Lawn, N.J., was second.

"Skip" Miller, kourse operator, said "There were 61 karts participating in the races."

This Sunday will end the season at the Pocono Kourse.

O'Malley Doesn't Oppose AL's Move

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Owner Walter O'Malley of the Los Angeles Dodgers said Monday he is not opposed to an American League club moving into this area.

But he added that there should be no move in 1961, and he does not want another team permanently sharing his new stadium, now being built.

O'Malley issued a statement just before meeting with New York Yankee owner Del Webb, chairman of the American League expansion committee. The American League has announced plans, so far indefinite, to start a team here in 1961.

Top golfer Arnold Palmer's father, Deacon Palmer, also was a professional golfer around Latrobe, Pa.

Poc. All-Stars, Magicians Exhibition Tonight At 8

THE HARLEM MAGICIANS make one of their 210 one-night stands tonight at 8, against the Pocono Mountain All-Stars, at Stroud Union High School's gym.

Led by dribble king Marques Haynes and kept in comedy gear by Sam (Boon) Wheeler, the Magicians parlay top basketball and gags into a clever hardwood production.

Paul Martin . . . Frontliner

Haynes, who spent the early part of his professional career with the Harlem Globetrotters, is considered the "World's Greatest Dribbler."

Back Dribble

He can lie on his back, dribbling with his left hand, arch his back, pass the ball underneath and continue the dribble with his right hand. He is also capable of freezing the ball for minutes at a time.

Wheeler, who plays the pivot is also the pivot man for most of the comedy routines. But Wheeler has a great hook shot and can fake well enough to shake loose underneath.

Josh Grider, another ex-Globetrotter specializes in an over-the-head set shot with deep knee bend action.

Two Big Men

The Magicians have 6-8 Paul Martin and 6-9 Jim Satterwhite on their front line. And Magicians first line reserve is Arthur Smith of Ardmore, Okla., who scored 390 in 13 games against the College all-Stars two years ago.

The Pocono All-Stars will be made up of Wilmont Smith, Walt Bjorn, George Metropolis, Dick Merring, Ray Steele, Karl Adelmann, Bob Wert and Bob Turley, a former Wilkes College hoopster, now working at Pocono Manor.

Josh Grider . . . Ex-Globetrotter

Asks Public Report On N-Warfare

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Poland proposes that a U. N. report on the consequences of nuclear warfare be prepared and published to generate public demand for disarmament.

A Polish resolution that the U.N. Secretariat circulated to delegations yesterday seeks to have the General Assembly establish a committee of scientists to work up the report.

The resolution, which Poland handed in late Saturday, says at the outset that a nuclear war "would threaten mankind with unprecedented destruction and misery" and "turn the world into ruins."

It would have the assembly state that world public opinion, "if awakened to the consequences of war, could constitute an important factor in bringing about an agreement on general and complete disarmament."

It proposes that the assembly name governments to a committee "to prepare a report on the consequences of the use of nuclear weapons, in particular, with regard to human life and health and to the material and cultural heritage of mankind."

No Legal Hazards Seen In Program

HARRISBURG (AP)—There are no legal hazards for doctors in the Commonwealth's driver physical re-examination program, State Traffic Safety Commissioner O. D. Shipley said Monday.

"The attorney general has advised me that a physician can testify only to an individual's condition at the time of examination," Shipley said in a statement.

The safety commissioner said he consulted Atty. Gen. Anne X. Alpern after hearing reports that some doctors are reluctant to conduct the tests for fear of liability in the event the patient became involved in an accident.

"She (Miss Alpern) has pointed out most emphastically that there is nothing in the law that states he would be liable should a patient later become involved in a traffic accident," Shipley added.

Five Burned Bodies Are Found In Car

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP) — State police were investigating yesterday the deaths of five men whose bodies, "burned to a crisp," were found in a car on a county road near here.

Coroner Raymond Call said the bodies were being X-rayed to determine the presence of metal that would indicate the men had been shot.

Call said there was a possibility of foul play because of the "way the bodies were in the car."

"With all the heat, it seems there'd have been some sort of struggle to try to escape," he said. "But there hadn't been. They were sitting just as though they'd just gotten into the car."

The victims were identified as Harvey Ratliff, about 24, found behind the wheel; Buddy Hopkins, about 24; Denver Yates, about 25; Harmond Robinson, about 35; and Louie Hopkins, about 17.

All were from the Greasy Creek area of Pike County.

Trooper Lonnie Leach said state police were called about 8:20 a.m. Sunday and informed a car had been found with the bodies inside at the head of Greasy Creek, 17 miles southeast of here.

Call said the car had "angled off the road, with no impact," down a shoulder and into a creek bed. He said results of the X-rays would be known Tuesday.

BLOOMSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Ronald K. Harvey, 24, of Bloomsburg, was killed last night when a car slammed into the left front fender of an auto he and two other men were pushing.

Taxing Gift Stocks

By William A. Doyle

Q. About 40 years ago, my wife's father bought one share of stock for $100. Since that time, as a result of stock splits and stock dividends, this one share has become 190 shares.

We sold 170 shares this year for $8,500 — $56 a share. Does my wife owe the government anything?

A. You don't provide much information. But that gives us an opportunity to explain some very complex and different tax situations. To make things a bit easier, let's assume that all the stock splits and stock dividends took place before your wife acquired the stock.

If your father-in-law gave the stock to your wife, her tax-cost basis is the price her father paid for the stock. If her father paid any Federal gift tax at the time he gave her the stock, that would also be added to the tax-cost basis. But let's figure that he didn't.

Her father paid $100 for one share—a share which eventually became 190 shares. In this case, the tax-cost basis of each share becomes 53 cents a share —$100 divided by 190 shares.

She sold 170 shares for $8,500. Her tax-cost basis on those shares was $90.10 — 170 times 53 cents. She has a profit of $8,409.90. That profit is taxable as a capital gain. It should be reported on Schedule D of the 1960 income tax return.

However, if your wife inherited the stock, she may have a smaller taxable profit. In that case, the tax-cost basis of the stock should have been established at the time her father's estate was settled.

The value of stock in an estate may be figured as the market value on the date of the owner's death or the market value one year later. It is used for Federal estate tax and state inheritance tax purposes.

It also becomes the tax-cost basis for the heirs who receive the stock.

In a situation such as this one, where the values of the stocks have skyrocketed, it is a big advantage. It cuts down on the taxable capital gains when an heir sells the stock.

Q. It may be fine for wealthy people to give their children their securities during their lifetimes. But what about a couple of moderate means who need the dividends from their stocks but hope to pass the stocks on to their children after death. What do they do?

A. They bequeath the stocks to their children. It should be done through a will, drawn up by an attorney.

Q. I wish to leave my stocks to my son. If I have the stocks registered in both my name and my child's name, will he get the stocks, tax free?

A. If the total value of your estate is small enough to escape both Federal and state death taxes—yes. But, if your estate is subject to taxes, joint ownership of securities will not remove those securities from your estate, as far as taxes are concerned.

This has been stressed here time and again. See a good tax lawyer and get things squared away. It might save your heir money.
